POWERS SEND PROTEST NOTE TO CHINA

REPORT AGAINST EARLY BUILDING OF PEACE RIVER LINE

Commons Committee Says Traffic as Yet Too Light For Western Outlet

Engineering Problems Could Be Overcome, Commons is Informed

Ottawa, April 8.—The railways and canals committee of the House of Commons, which concluded its hearing on the Peace River railroad outlet this morning, will report to the House this afternoon that the opinion is that the building of a western outlet from the Peace River area is feasible from an engineering standpoint, but that on economic grounds construction should not be commenced forthwith and that the potentialities of the Peace River area warrant a continuous study of its development.

ALBERTA'S POSITION

Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta, speaking before the committee this morning, suggested the Canadian National Railways take over the Edmonton, Dunsmuir and British Columbia Railway.
Mr. Brownlee said it would be entirely unfair to project a line to the Pacific coast and not make the E.D. & B.C. Railway part of the system. He maintained that railway, at present operated by the Alberta Government, would not be a handicap to the people of the Dominion. The railway had had a revenue of over $1,000,000 last year, and at the present time traffic from that line was feeding the trans-continental line of the Canadian National Railway. He argued that if the provincial railway had a revenue of $1,000,000 it was safe to say a revenue of over $1,000,- 000 had accrued to the Canadian National Railway, and that the percentage of profit to the Government railway would be greater than the profit to the E.D. & B.C. Railway.
He said that while the Province had suffered a loss of $150,000 last year on operation, he was confident that would be wiped out during the present year.

CAPITAL PAYMENTS

If the two lines were welded together, he was sure that not only would the operating costs of the E.D.
& B.C. Railway be wiped out, but that a substantial payment could be made toward the capital cost.
Premier Brownlee said that while the province of Alberta had between $22,000,000 and $23,000,000 invested in railway, it did not assume that the ever took over the railway would pay all that. The province merely expected to get a fair replacement value.
He submitted that for the Canadian National Railway to take over the railway would not involve any great expenditure on equipment.
John Callaghan, Deputy Minister of Railways of Alberta, stressed what he regarded as the advantage of the Pine Pass route.

VICTORIA NOT TO GET NIGHT LIQUOR SALE FOR PRESENT

Only Vancouver Store to Stay Open Until Midnight as Experiment

While one of Vancouver's Government liquor stores will open in future at 4 p.m. and remain open until midnight, this plan of offering stronger competition to bootleggers will not be followed here for the present, at least, it was indicated at the Liquor Board headquarters.

No action to open one of the Victoria stores has been taken yet, although the legislation passed by the Legislature recently contemplated the operation of night stores here and in Vancouver. Since the passage of this legislation, however, the Liquor Board has seen little demand for a night sale in Victoria, and, on the other hand, there appears to be considerable opinion against it.
Before any final decision on the Victoria situation is made liquor officials will observe the results of the new system in Vancouver. There the Robson Street store will operate daily from 4 p.m. to midnight for the night trade except on Saturdays, when the hours will be 3 p.m. to 11 p.m. The purpose of this change is to offer legal liquor facilities in competition with bootlegging establishments.

U.S. AMBASSADOR TO JAPAN TO PASS THROUGH VICTORIA

Tokio, April 8.—Charles Mac-Veagh, United States Ambassador to Japan, called for the United States to-day on the liner Empress of Canada.
(Recent dispatches said Mr.
MacVeagh's trip was of a personal nature.)

Ontario Paper Mill Ultimatum

Toronto, April 8.—Premier G. H.
Egerton of Ontario has issued an ultimatum on E. W. Backus, Minnesota millionaire, that he must begin work at once on the building of a paper mill near Fort William, Ont., as provided by the terms of an agreement with the province, or forfeit his lease of valuable pulpwood limits.
Mr. Backus, after a conference with the Premier, left for Chicago last night.

POSTAL RATES CUT

Ottawa, April 8.—The bill to reduce postage rates on certain newspapers and periodicals from 1½c to 1c a pound was given third reading by the Senate this afternoon. The bill had already passed the Commons and now only awaits signature.

COMMONS QUICKLY PASSES A BATCH OF DIVORCE BILLS

Ottawa, April 8.—Twenty-nine unopposed divorce bills, numbers 240 to 268, sent from the Senate, were given third reading in the Commons to-day on division. The bills went through en bloc.

SPRING FLOWER SHOW OPENED BY VISCOUNT WILLINGDON TO-DAY

A sea of golden daffodils greeted the crowds that thronged the opening of the first Spring flower show of Vancouver and Gulf Islands flower growers at the Willows grounds at 2.15 p.m. to-day.
Tulips, hyacinths, hydrangeas, flowering shrubs and hardy native and Alpine plants, met the eye in a veritable rainbow of color.

Promptly at 2.15 p.m. Their Excellencies the Governor-General of Canada and Viscountess Willingdon arrived and declared the exhibition open at a brief ceremony. Their Excellencies expressed both delight and surprise at the wonderful mass of color, which turned the main building at the Willows into a fairy palace of bloom.

OUTSTANDING EXHIBITORS

Crowds who thronged to the scene from the time the doors opened at 2 p.m., were amazed at the wealth of flowers picked from Vancouver Island gardens thus early in the year, and in a season acknowledged to be some weeks behind the usual climatic changes.

The inaugural exhibition was outstanding not only for its magnificent display of bloom, but for the wide nature of the entries, arriving from the Alberni Canal and from distant Gulf Islands, as well as heavy entries from Victoria and vicinity.
Patrons at the opening day of the two-day exhibition were shown the pick of the early Spring blooms from gardens, professional and amateur, which have sent native varieties back to Kew Gardens, to the Royal Gardens at Buckingham Palace and many world-famous botanical gardens in England.

TO THE HOME OF THE BULB

Vancouver Island bulbs, it was shown, have been distributed as well as Holland, the home of the bulb, where they have competed successfully with the best that is produced in the pioneering bulb country in the world. Through the chain of Dominion experimental stations, it was explained, Vancouver Island bulbs have been planted throughout Canada in every Province alongside of the best imported bulbs, and in ninety-five per cent of the tests thus made have demonstrated their superiority in color, length of stem and all essentials to the success of the product in an industrial way. Not only is the bulb industry of Vancouver Island becoming a leading factor, but Vancouver Island has a virtual monopoly in this class of industry on this continent, with an excellent chance of leading the world in the output and beauty of its product.

"BURBANKING"

Patrons of the first joint showing of Vancouver Island flowers to-day were given an interesting demonstration of "Burbanking," in the display of 100 examples of unnamed varieties of daffodils by Dr. Carr Hilton, Alberni. Dr. Hilton explained to the Times this morning the process of raising new varieties of daffodils from seed. When reproduced from the bulb the daffodil repeats itself, but when raised from seedlings there is one chance in a hundred of striking an entirely new variety. Ten percent of the new varieties thus found are suitable for commercial production, while the remainder are interesting and often beautiful specimens for the hobbyist.

FORMER VICTORIA SCHOONER HELD AT SAN PEDRO, CAL., ON CHARGE OF LIQUOR SMUGGLING

Panama Schooner Makadeta, formerly the Saucy Lass of Victoria.

San Pedro, Cal., April 8.—The schooner Makadeta is in port here to-day, having been brought in yesterday by the United States coastguard cutter Tamaroa, the third seizure of the vessel on charges of liquor smuggling. Information concerning the seizure has so far been withheld by the coastguard at the request of the Internal Revenue Department.
The cutter Vaughn is bound for here with the Makadeta's crew aboard.
The Makadeta, whose last known port of call was Mazatlan, was said to have had between 300 and 500 cases of liquor aboard when seized, about a quarter of her capacity.
The vessel, which was formerly engaged in British Columbia coastal traffic, was first taken by United States coastguard cutters as the Canadian Saucy Lass. Later, she was again taken as the Makadeta. She now is under Panama registry.

The schooner Makadeta formerly was a member of the Victoria sealing fleet. She was then known as the "Saucy Lass." When pelagic sealing was ended by treaty the craft was tied up at Victoria. About five years ago, while she was moored at a wharf in the Inner Harbor, where she had lain for years, she was purchased by a group of men, who refitted her, installed an auxiliary gasoline motor and sailed her down the Pacific, "visiting" ports in the United States and Mexico. They sold her and reports since have told of her having several different owners.
The schooner has figured in news on several occasions since she left Victoria.

GRADUATE STUDENTS GATHER FOR DINNER

Each Year From 1876 on Will Have Representation Tomorrow Night

Throughout Victoria, the members of graduating classes of the Victoria High School from as far back as 1876 are communicating with one another for the purpose of organization, and each year will have its representation at the fiftieth anniversary celebration dinner to be given to-morrow evening.
It is expected that J. C. Newbury first head student of the school, who has been invited to speak to the gathering to-morrow, will be accompanied to the ceremony by other members of the first high school class, many of whom are still resident in this city.

Many ex-teachers will attend the dinner also, it is expected. This is scheduled for 6.30 o'clock and will be given in the school dining-room.
There will be an interesting programme to follow the banquet.
The celebration commemorates the fiftieth birthday of the school, founded in 1876. The programme planned will be of interest to everyone.
This afternoon the entire school assembled in the auditorium to hear the history of the institution related by Mrs. Dilworth, principal.
Mr. Dilworth, who is the first old student of the school to serve as its principal, has made a close study of the institution's history and is well fitted to speak of its past.
A programme of song and music was also scheduled for the afternoon proceeding.

Christian Church Work in China is Almost at an End

Shanghai, April 8.—Christian missionary activity in China has been reduced nearly to the vanishing point.
It was stated here to-day. The prospects for resuming the endeavors in the near future are declared to be dark, at least as far as Protestant organizations are concerned.
These statements were issued this afternoon by a group of more than a dozen officials of various mission boards, including Rev. Dr. James Endicott, secretary of the board of foreign missions of the United Church of Canada, who conferred with newspaper correspondents for the purpose of enlightening the North American public as to the exact status of mission work in China.

HECTOR SUTHERLAND DIED AT HIS HOME AT SUMMERLAND, B.C.

Summerland, B.C., April 8.—Hector Sutherland, formerly a member of the Manitoba Legislature, died suddenly at his home here last night.
A brother, Ross Sutherland, lives in Victoria.

MALAHAT CURVES WILL BE BLASTED AWAY THIS SPRING

Sutherland Plans to Increase Safety of Highway For All Travel

Programme Will Eliminate Danger Points; Asks West Coast Road Aid

Dangerous curves on the Malahat Highway will be blasted away during this Spring, under important road improvement plans announced to-day by Hon.
W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works.
Machinery, including compressors, is being assembled now to be taken to the Malahat and used in early blasting operations.
Remodeling of the road at dangerous spots is a difficult operation as such points usually present a precipitous bluff above the highway itself. It will be necessary to blow down the cliffs and remove the debris in order to widen the road at curves.
TO AID TRAFFIC

Arrangements will be made to interfere with traffic as little as possible during this work. Small bluffs will be used and the debris thrown down upon the road will be removed immediately. Traffic will be protected by guards stationed at either end of the danger area during actual blasting.
The purpose of this plan is to make the road safer than it is now in view of heavily-increased traffic. With the growing use of buses on the highway, curves become a greater menace to the ordinary car every year.
The policy of the Public Works Department is to do away with all dangerous curves by a gradual process of improvement. The worst of these points on the road will be eliminated this Spring.

WEST COAST ROAD

The Federal Government has under-consideration now the granting of assistance in the construction of a road along the West Coast of the Island, useful for lifesaving purposes. Dr. Sutherland urged such assistance when he was in Ottawa recently. Meanwhile the Department here is preparing to send surveyors out to locate a possible route for this highway.

WOMAN TELLS JURY BULLETS SHE FIRED KILLED HUSBAND

At Trial in Vancouver Mrs.
Maude McIntyre Pleads
Self-defence

Vancouver, April 8.—Mrs. Maude McIntyre, on trial here on a charge of having murdered James Edward McIntyre, her husband, in the Angelus Hotel here, December 23 last, admitted on the witness stand this afternoon that she fired the shots which killed him. Her story, told hysterically and indignantly, indicated a claim of self-defence.
The first time she fired, she said, she aimed toward the window with the object of attracting attention.
Her husband was in an ugly mood and was going to attack her, she said. She tried to get out of the room, but he caught her.
She remembered pressing the trigger a third time.
LIFE OF TURBULENCE

Vancouver, April 8.—Frequently sobbing, Mrs. Maude McIntyre, taking the witness stand in her own behalf, told an assize court jury to-day of her life with James Edward McIntyre, her husband, which culminated in his death in the Angelus Hotel on December 23 from gunshot wounds.
J. E. Bird, defence counsel, briefly questioned Mrs. McIntyre as to her husband's conduct since she arrived here sixteen years ago. Accompanied by her daughter, Marjorie, she said, she came to Vancouver in response to his urgent request, and when he met them at the station he was "very drunk." For three years he kept sober during business hours; but became drunk after leaving the office, according to the witness.

BEATEN WITH CANE

She identified a heavy cane with which her husband had beaten her.
She recalled an occasion, when at 3 o'clock in the morning he told her of a gold mine he owned. He also said he owned an island, but she failed to verify his statements.
During one beating, her son "Billy" intervened, she testified, and was hit on the nose with McIntyre's cane.
She got rid of the stick by giving it to a man who had called for a carpet.
Nine months ago the husband beat her "terribly," said the witness. She became unconscious when she heard him say: "I will kick your head through the wall."

WELL-KNOWN PUBLIC MAN NOMINATED BY OKANAGAN LIBERALS

Armsstrong, April 8.—Liberals of North Okanagan, yesterday unanimously nominated Dr. K. C.
MacDonald of Vernon as their candidate in the forthcoming by-election to fill a vacancy in the Provincial Legislature. Dr. Mac-Donald, who is one of the best known public men in the interior of the Province, was the only Liberal proposed for the nomination.

The choice of Dr. MacDonald assures a vigorous campaign to recapture the North Okanagan seat from the Conservative Party. He is a veteran in the political life of British Columbia, and a respected campaigner. He was elected to the Legislature in 1916 and in the two subsequent provincial elections, of 1920 and 1924 he was returned again. After the latter poll he was made Provincial Secretary and in the following by-election he was defeated by the late A. O. Cochrane, who represented the North Okanagan seat until his death last December.
Premier Oliver launched the North Okanagan campaign with an address to the convention.

New Liquor Guards On U.S. Side of Detroit River

Washington, April 8.—Reorganization of the United States Government forces guarding the Canadian boundary line in the vicinity of Detroit will be completed by May 1, the duties now performed by the prohibition forces being turned over to the customs officials.

Assistant Secretary Andrews, in charge of prohibition enforcement, announced to-day that after a conference with customs officials, this step had been decided on.
Shanghai, April 8.—Snipers operating from alleyways and roof tops fired on a party of Japanese patrolling the municipal road in the northern district here this morning. One marine was seriously wounded.
Shots were exchanged for about an hour, when the arrival of British and Japanese reinforcements caused the snipers to withdraw.
Later, sniping broke, but in a new area of the same district. The Japanese replied and the firing ceased.

AUTO FELL THIRTY FEET FROM BRIDGE

Woman in North Vancouver Not Badly Hurt, But Had Narrow Escape

North Vancouver, April 8.—Mrs. W.
A. Rutledge had a narrow escape from death last night when a large automobile she was driving plunged over a bridge here.
The car apparently skidded when Mrs. Rutledge endeavored to make a sharp turn on the bridge approach.
It dropped nearly thirty feet to a dry creek bed beneath, landing upside down. Mrs. Rutledge received only a few bruises.
Crawling from beneath the wreck of the car, Mrs. Rutledge climbed up the steep bank to the bridge walked to the nearest garage and later supervised the work of salvaging the car.

Paris, April 8.—The Ministers of Great Britain, the United States, France, Italy and Japan have been instructed by their Governments, says the French Foreign Office, to hand a joint note of protest to the Peking Government against the mistreatment of nationals of their countries.
The note, presumably in consequence of the recent outbreak at Nanking, where there were foreign casualties, will threaten penalties, but will not be specific as to the form they would take.
It is stated, its delivery will be first concerted action by the powers in the present Chinese situation, but the French indicate this does not necessarily mean joint punitive action will be taken.
TO BE DRAFTED

The phraseology of the note has not been determined, but the various ministers have been instructed to get together and draft terms along general lines laid down by the foreign affairs departments of the five powers.
Whether the note will be forwarded also to the Cantonese Government, which is in power in Southern China, was not stated. It is understood that the British in Peking have been given authority to use their own discretion both as regards the form of the protest and to whom it is made.

JAPANESE LAND 800 SAILORS AT SHANGHAI

Armed Forces There Increased as Result of Outbreak of Sniping

Washington, April 8.—Eight hundred additional Japanese sailors were landed at Shanghai last night, after an attack by Chinese snipers upon Japanese guards along the North Szechwan Road. Admiral Williams reported to-day to the Navy Department here.
Admiral Williams also reported that a police cordon and a detachment of Shanghai Volunteers had been placed about the Soviet consulate at Shanghai. All persons entering or leaving the con-sulate were being searched by these military guards, he said, but he gave no further explanation.

Shanghai, April 8.—Snipers
operating from alleyways and
roof tops fired on a party of Japanese patrolling the municipal
road in the northern district here
this morning. One marine was seriously wounded.
Shots were exchanged for about
an hour, when the arrival of British and Japanese reinforcements caused the snipers to withdraw.
Later, sniping broke, but in a new area of the same district. The Japanese replied and the firing ceased.

AGITATORS KILLED

General Chang Kai-Shek, Cantonese commander-in-chief, had issued an order that no civilians would be permitted on the streets with arms in their possession. Last night several armed agitators were shot and killed by Cantonese military units who refused to give up their arms.
DISTRICTS EVACUATED

Canton, April 8.—United States residents have been ordered to evacuate the out stations by April 11.
Germans were ordered to concentrate at Fongchuen, near Shamsen, the foreign section here, owing to the seriousness of the local situation.

MARTIAL LAW

London, April 8.—Martial law has been declared at Wuhu, sixty miles up the Yangtze River from Nanking, in an attempt to control the Chinese troops, who are divided owing to the Nationalist split, says a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company.
The division of opinion and general discontent are expected to develop into open friction.

PENSION APPEALS DEBATED BY M.P.'S

Bill Reduces Appeal Board Membership From Five to Three

Ottawa, April 8 (Canadian Press)—When the bill to amend the Pension Act in respect to the Federal Appeal Board was before the House for second reading yesterday, Brigadier General J. A. Clark, Conservative, criticized the Board of Pensions Commissioners.

The amendment itself relates to the Federal Appeal Board, making its minimum membership three instead of five and providing for their appointment for five years instead of two.

General Clark asserted most complaints were due to improper administration of the act.

Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Health and Soldiers Civil Re-establishment, objected that a criticism of the Board of Pensions Commissioners could not be launched under this amendment, and the Speaker ruled that the commissioners could not be attacked in the House as to their judicial powers. They had both judicial and administrative powers, he said, and their administrative acts were open to discussion by members in the House.

L. J. Ladner, Conservative, Vancouver South, said he regretted the Government had not introduced requested legislation in respect to returned soldiers.

A. M. Young, Liberal, Saskatoon, believed that if more sympathetic consideration were given by the board to pension cases, a great many difficulties complained of would be erased. He thought the board should consider applications from "broad general aspects."

George Black, Conservative, Yukon, urged that the amendments requested should be presented before prorogation.

TOTAL OUTLAY GROWS
Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative, Calgary West, said his experience was that the attitude of the Pension Commissioners to the appeals of the returned soldiers was hardening as the years went by, and they were becoming less sympathetic in their interpretation of the act.

Dr. King said the "hardening" referred to by the member for West Calgary had not taken place, as in the last five years the pension bill had grown from $30,000,000 to $37,000,000.

ALBERTA WORKERS SENT TO MISSION FIELD IN AFRICA

Toronto, April 8.—While terminating an agreement which has existed between the Canadian Congregationalists and Congregationalists of the United States since 1855, the executive committee of the foreign missions board of the United Church of Canada yesterday approved a new agreement which maintains the co-operation started more than forty years ago and provides for Canadian direction of a large section of mission work in Africa which up until the present has been superintended from Boston.

Three central stations, with 153 sub-stations, will in future be directed by the United Church of Canada and will be manned by Canadians.

Rev. Kenneth Prior and Mrs. Prior of Alberta, now at Lisbon studying the Portuguese language, were authorized to proceed to the African field.

B.C. University Senators Elected

Vancouver, April 8.—By a record ballot which closed yesterday, the fifteen members of the Senate of British Columbia were elected from twenty-six candidates as follows:

Chancellor, Dr. R. McKee, re-elected by acclamation.

Senate, Dr. G. H. Hogg, Dr. G. C. Sedwick, Judge Howay, A. E. Lord, Sherwood Lett, A. E. Richards, Rev. A. H. Sovereign, Judge Swanson, Archbishop A. U. De Penier, G. W. Scott, Mrs. Beatrice Wood, Dr. C. E. C. Kline, Miss Annie E. Jamieson, Sydney Anderson and Dr. W. B. Burnett.

Over 700 ballots were cast, a record in the history of the university, according to Stanley Mathews, registrar.

NORTHCLIFFE ESTATE

Vancouver, April 8.—Disposing of gross estate of $20,145,338, the English probate of the will of the Hon. Alfred Charles William, Viscount Northcliffe, who died August 15, 1922, in London, has been filed in the Supreme Court here for recording.

This step was necessary because the assets include $2,437 of British Columbia Telephone Company shares in this Province.

ARMY TRANSPORT DELAYED

Honolulu, April 8.—The United States army transport Thomas, en route from San Francisco to Manila, was quarantined upon its arrival here yesterday when a case of smallpox was found among troops aboard the ship. The patient was removed and the vessel will continue to Manila to-night.

Ruts

MANY a man of brilliant promise has been lost in a rut of despair. Has seen his enthusiasm, his prospects, blighted! Himself powerless to prevent it—dully realizing that he no longer had the energy to stand the pace. . . . What can crush a man's spirit so completely?

Indeed, what is constipation? More—far more—than the average person realizes. It destroys health. It steals strength. It sicken the mind and leads to suffering and disease! Yet no one need be afflicted with this curse. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation—promptly, safely.

—1/2 hy part-bran products fail!
ALL-BRAN is 100% "bulk." This bulk absorbs moisture and carries it throughout the intestines, gently distending them—cleansing, removing wastes and poisons. In a part-bran product the quantity of bulk is so small it scarcely accomplishes anything! Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN because they know it is 100% bran—100% effective.

So different from dangerous pills!

LOWER POSTAL RATE FOR NEWSPAPERS

One Cent a Pound Provided by Bill Approved by Ottawa Commons

Ottawa, April 8.—The Post Office Department during the Parliamentary recess will go carefully into the question of giving Canadian magazines and periodicals sure protection against the influx of United States publications, Hon. P. J. Veniot, Postmaster-General, announced in the House yesterday.

The statement came during the discussion on the bill to reduce the rate of postage on Canadian newspapers from 1 1/2 to 1 cent a pound, which was given third reading by the House. His department, he said, would try to initiate some plan to submit at the next session to meet the demands of Canadian publishers.

With regard to the newspaper postal rate bill, the Postmaster-General said a number of smaller papers had sent telegrams to him urging the bill be delayed until they had time to submit their views. They wanted zoning system, whereby publications, carried long distance would pay more than those with a circumscribed area. This same claim, he said, had been fully considered in 1920, when it was found impracticable to divide the country up into such zones as were then recommended. The publishers were to hold a meeting on May 4 and 5, and if they had any further reasons to submit in support of their contention, his department would be glad to consider them. However, at present, the post office officials feel such zoning was not feasible in Canada.

Mr. Veniot declared his action in proposing the reduction of the postal rate on Canadian newspapers was not due to the influence of any big dailies.

"I have done it on my own initiative," he said, "because I think from an experience of some thirty-five years in the newspaper business it is due the newspapers at the present time."

SPEAKER SHARED DEBATE
Speaker Lemieux, speaking when the House was in committee on the bill, protested against a certain type of "pornographic" papers from the United States which were being sold on every street corner of the larger Canadian cities. These papers were a menace to the youth of this country, he said. Even in France a movement was on foot to curb such publications there.

The Minister of Customs and the Postmaster-General, he hoped, would get together and find some method to protect the country against this type of publication.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Conservative House leader, said the House should note this innovation on the part of the Speaker in participating in the debate then in progress. He did not wish to criticize, but he thought it might be a precedence for future procedure.

PRECEDENTS QUOTED
Speaker Lemieux quoted instances from the British House to show Speakers there had participated in debates when the House was in committee of the whole.

"I quite agree with the principle laid down by the Leader of the Opposition," he said, "that the Speaker from the chair must not take any part in debate, and must not vote except in case of a tie. But in committee, the Speaker has a right to speak and to vote."

Discussion turned back to the bill before the House, and E. J. Garland, Hon. River, Alberta, asked that under the bill the public would have to bear a deficit of from $400,000 to $600,000 for the benefit of large newspapers.

BUSINESS WILL INCREASE
Mr. Veniot replied that while the reduction in postal rates on newspapers would mean, on the present basis, a loss of around $400,000 in revenue, it was hoped the increased volume of business would make up the deficit.

Hon. J. D. Champlin, Conservative, Lincoln, Ontario, was emphatically against this bill. It was unjust to the small newspapers, he said.

The bill was then reported by the committee and given third reading.

Airmen Start From France to South America

Paris, April 8.—A new Transatlantic air attempt from France to South America was started to-day with the departure from the Le Bourget aerodrome of a Farman Goliath "propaganda" plane, flying under the auspices of the Paris-Latin America Association.

The first stop will be St. Raphael, on the southeastern coast of France, where floats will be installed in readiness for the actual start of the flight on April 15.

The plane is piloted by M. Drouhin, accompanied by Capt. St. Rom and Commander Mounier. There are two mechanics and a wireless operator.

Liquor Permits In Ontario Are to Cost $2 Apiece

Toronto, April 8.—D. B. Hanna, chairman of the Ontario Liquor Commission, which has been making arrangements during the last two days for government sale of liquor to begin early next month, is expected to issue a statement to-night dealing with permits, their price, distribution and application.

It has been learned that the price of the permits for residents and transients has been fixed at $2.

NEW BRUNSWICK'S LIQUOR BILL IS ADVANCED IN HOUSE

Fredericton, N.B., April 8.—New Brunswick's admission into the ranks of those Canadian provinces which operate government liquor control systems was brought a step nearer last night when the bill introduced in the Legislature by Premier J. B. M. Baxter was given second reading, an opposition amendment which would have had the effect of killing the measure being defeated by twenty-five votes to eighteen.

"THINK IN TERMS OF CANADA"

YEARS AGO HORACE GREELEY ADVISED the young men of this continent to go West. Many thousands of them did so. Now Hon. Charles A. Dunning, Canada's Minister of Railways and Canals, varies the advice. "Go North, Young Man," says he.

Mr. Dunning's advice is good. Young Canadians with brain and brawn will find it much more to their advantage to go North than to go South. There is in the North a vast area rich in resources and capable of sustaining many millions of people. The Minister of Railways notes with considerable satisfaction that its appeal already is attracting young men of vision and enterprise. He points out also that "this northern trend, in closing the gap between the East and the West, will tend to balance the economic value of Canada as a whole."

There is in this almost untouched storehouse of natural wealth plenty of scope for the products of Canada's schools and universities. It presents opportunities to extend the country's diversity of occupation. It opens a field of effort not to be found in the keen competitive atmosphere of the big city. Mr. Dunning is serving his country well in directing the attention of young Canadians to these opportunities in their own country.

The Minister also very truly says that "one of our great needs is to think in terms of Canada." Too much emphasis can not be laid upon this truth. We do not believe there is any real inferiority complex in this country. There is certainly nothing to warrant it. Canadian history should cheer the most confirmed pessimist. It is a chapter of wonderful achievement and ought to make every Canadian thrill with pride.

This year of all years should mark the revival of Canadianism. There should be, as Mr. Dunning says, more thinking "in terms of Canada" and less thinking in terms of other countries. Canadians are interested in what is taking place elsewhere; they are appreciative of the contributions to human progress made by men and women in other lands; but let them remember the part which Canada and her people have played in the world's affairs during the last sixty years.

Canadians are poor boasters. A certain amount of natural modesty is as becoming in a nation as it is in an individual. But let us take what is due to us. Let us talk and think "in terms of Canada."

A POOR DAY IN CHICAGO

THERE IS AN OLD ADAGE WHICH says that "to-day is the to-morrow we worried about yesterday—and it didn't happen." Probably the people of Chicago thought of this when they sat down to breakfast on Wednesday morning and found the city still intact and only a few minor polling day casualties reported.

Either the police arrangements were so elaborate that the gentlemen who frequently tour the city with machine guns and revolvers were completely over-awed, or else the gangsters indulged in a little belated April Fool joke; it is none the less now a matter of record that the changing of a Democrat mayor for a Republican mayor was accomplished with a comparative solemnity which has called forth more newspaper comment than the expected fireworks display would have obtained.

This is not to say that Chicago intends to drop one of its means of publicity. Its pride would hardly let it descend to a fourth rate sensation provider; yet its citizens will have to admit that the mayoralty election of 1927 was far below the standard announced in the advance notices. But if there was an element of surprise in the events of the day, there seems to have been no doubt in the minds of the employees who served under the Democrat mayor as to what would be expected of them under a Republican mayor. They had not been in possession of the result of the poll very long before they had begun to pack up their belongings in order to allow another set of "spoils" to take over their jobs.

Now that the election is over, however, Mayor Thompson will be able to tell King George officially that he does not wish to be friendly with him, that he has no use for the League of Nations, and that if he has his way Chicago will not get mixed up in any troubles that are not peculiarly its own. For the sake of ex-Mayor Dever's peace of mind he may rest assured that the intimacy with King George, with which the new mayor charged him on the hustings, may be continued on an unofficial basis if the new arrangements are found agreeable to His Majesty.

In the meantime Mayor Thompson will be able to settle down to the simple little job of stamping out the gangster. When he has accomplished that he may perhaps find the time and inclination to try to prevent the wind from blowing in the "windy city" over whose civic affairs he is now about to preside once more.

COOLING DOWN

SIR AUSTEN CHAMBERLAIN TOLD A Birmingham audience yesterday that Great Britain's reluctance to sever relations with Soviet Russia "is not a mark of weakness, but of strength."

Soviet Russia has not played the game; but he also knows that neither his own country nor the rest of the world would be any better off if an open rupture were to be caused. There is still a persistent belief, moreover, that Sir Austen was far from keen on sending his recent note to Moscow, that he was driven to it by those members of the Cabinet and the House of Commons who duck their heads every time they hear the word Bolshevism. They will be suitably horrified to learn that there is no prospect of any further action.

Mr. Wickham Steed, former editor of The London Times, rather confirms Sir Austen Chamberlain's idea of the wisdom of Britain's attitude towards Russia. He says of the February note which Sir Austen dispatched to Moscow that "a communication of that sort helps the Bolsheviks to make out that all 'Capitalist' states are trembling before them."

There is a thought here which should be considered by those who seem to think that the British Empire can be smashed with Bolshevik propaganda. In fact there is no more reason why the British Government should pay attention to much that is said and done by the Moscow gentry than there would be for Mr. Mackenzie King to answer all the strictures of his newspaper critics.

Russia's system of government is not a success, and no matter how persistently those in charge of her affairs try to foist their doctrines on other countries, they are bound to fail in the long run. But—and it is a warning that ought to be remembered—if the powers who do not like the cut of Russia's governmental coat, and try to impose a pattern of their own upon her, adopt policies that are warlike, both in a military and an economic sense, there might be produced a condition in which Bolshevism, and probably something very much worse, would thrive and expand.

SWIFT AND SURE

THE LOS ANGELES TIMES IS obviously impatient at the slow rate of speed at which the wheels of justice turn in the United States and emphasizes its opinions by reminding its readers how promptly malefactors are dealt with in Great Britain. It says in part:

In England a man who murdered his sweetheart was arrested and brought to trial within fifteen days of the crime, and the hearing lasted but six minutes. There were no sob sisters or publicity seeking lawyers to encumber the path of justice. Murder in Great Britain is considered a terrible crime and punishment is quick, certain and complete.

No matter whether the murderer is poor or wealthy, when he enters the prisoner's dock in a British country he is certain of a fair trial and no favors. If he is found innocent, he gets off; if he is convicted, he is punished. Neither sob sister nor publicity-seeking lawyer cuts any figure.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

WORDS: THEIR INADEQUACIES
(Booth Tarkington in "The Guest of Queens")

Like most painters, I have supposed the tools of my craft harder to manipulate than those of others. The use of words, particularly, seemed reader, handier for the contrivance of effects than pigments. I thought the language of words less elusive than that of color, having smaller margin for unintended effects; and believing in complacent good faith that words conveyed exact meaning exactly, it was my innocent conception that almost anything might be so described in words that all who read must inevitably perceive that thing precisely. If this were true, there would be little work for the lawyers, who produce such tortured pages in the struggle to be definite, who swing riches from one family to another, save men from violent death or send them to it, and earn fortunes for themselves through the dangerous inadequacies of words.

The psychologist, who is Dr. Carney Landis of Wesleyan University, has compared his conversation samples with similar collections overheard in the streets of New York and Columbus.

When Englishmen meet Englishmen the chief topic of conversation is the same as between American men, namely, money and business. Dr. Landis declares in a report to The Journal of Abnormal and Social Psychology. But when an Englishman talks to a woman he does not talk shop or sports, as American men tend to do when talking to a woman. Instead, the Londoner seems to converse rather about women, clothes or himself. The English woman's remarks to a man are apt to be along the same lines as if she were talking to another woman, that is, about women and about herself.

Dr. Landis concludes that "The limited sample of conversation obtained indicates that the Englishman adapts his conversations to the interests of his feminine companion, while American studies show that the American woman adapts her conversations to the interests of her masculine companion."

"There is a greater variety in the conversations heard in London streets than in those heard on American streets," Dr. Landis finds.

Do You Mean What You Say?

"SAM HILL"

"What the Sam Hill!" is a common phrase in the vocabulary of those usually mild dispositioned who at times desire to express themselves more ardently than their environment permits. The story is told that there was once living a gentleman by the name of Sam Hill in British Columbia, where some of the largest ice caps of America feed a series of great glaciers, such as the Asulkan and the Illecillewaet. These gigantic ice rivers are constantly receding, according to scientific measurements made year by year. Many of these enormous ice fields remain to be fully explored and mapped in detail.

ALL VETERANS ASKED TO ATTEND SERVICE

Vimy Memorial Service Sunday Will Have Big Attendance

At the Vimy Memorial Service on Sunday at Beacon Hill Park, military and naval units from this city will pay tribute to the fallen. The meeting of the Pro Patria branch of the Canadian Legion heard last night from its president, J. Hebert Gillette, that all veterans were invited to attend the service and were requested to wear their decorations. H. W. Hart reported that a total of $5,270 had been collected for the Goodwin Defence Fund and stated that it was expected that the Mayor's Fund for the Goodwin Defence would open shortly.

Two resolutions emanating from the Pro Patria branch will be put before the British Empire Service League Conference in London next month, it was announced. These are as follows:
(1) The creation of an Empire Memorial, subscribed for by all parts of the Empire by those only who served, and the kindred of the dead. The memorial to be of a practical nature of benefit to living persons, such as: A foundation for medical research, sheltered occupational employment for disabled veterans or some other humanitarian scheme.
(2) A tablet, or some such token to be placed in the offices of the League of Nations as a perpetual reminder from those who fought and suffered of the ravages of war. The cost to be met by all ex-belligerent nations and subscribed for by those who served and the kindred of the dead.

Plenty of Action in B.C. Ring Show
New Westminster, April 8.—Six boxing bouts and three wrestling bouts in which there was plenty of action, marked the preliminary of the B.C. championship at the arena here last night. The finals are slated for to-night.

In the 145-pound wrestling class, R. S. Stubbs of Anxox, took the measure of Frank Peterson of Westminster Y.M.C.A. and A. Overland, Westminster Y.M.C.A. proved too much for Eugene, of the Finnish A.C. In the other wrestling event, the 158-pound division, Hansen of Westminster "Y." took the decision from Maurice Letchford of the V.A.C. The two other wrestling fixtures were not contested, McLaughlin of V.A.C. defaulting to K. Olson, Hammond, in the 174-pound class, and Allan Kelson doing the same for his match with J. K. K. of Finnish A.C. in the 164-pound division.

Billy Cox of V.A.C. proved his worth when he trimmed W. Washburn, S.V.A.C., after giving him twenty-four rounds when W. Armstrong of Stewart, failed to show up for his bout in the 173-pound boxing.

Horton, Vancouver policeman, took the decision from J. Hender, Burkes A.C. in the 158-pound event. Graham Robertson, V.A.C. and F. Randolph, Burkes A.C., failed to show up, so George Almsworth, Dominion champion at this weight, took on L. Patton and trimmed him.

In the other bout at this weight, Howard, Morton S.V.A.C. secured a technical knockout over J. C. Bailey, Clayburn A.C., whose forty-two years proved too much of a handicap.

In the 126-pound class J. McBeth, Clayburn A.C., proved too fast for Gilwood, Burkes A.C. Tom Poanessa, S.V.A.C., beat Harry Marshall, V.A.C.

OPEN VERDICT IN VANCOUVER CASE

Coroner's Jury Says M. Douglas Met Death at Hands of Unknown Persons

Vancouver, April 8.—That Marshall Douglas came to his death April 5 at the Canada Hotel here from insecticide gas suffocation, by person or persons unknown was the finding of the coroner's jury which yesterday afternoon investigated the death of the well-known advertising man.

Robert T. Moore and Angus Nicholson, advertising salesmen, who were held at police headquarters charged with the murder, were present at the inquest, but on the advice of their counsel, J. W. de B. Farris, R.C., did not give evidence. Moore's left eye was badly discolored. His attitude indicated he felt the unfortunate position in which he now found himself. His wife sat beside him throughout the hearing and with frequent reassuring pats on his hand, Nicholson's face was a mask throughout the proceedings.

MANY ATTENDED HEARING

The courtroom was crowded, many standing throughout the taking of the evidence, which occupied five hours. Immediately on the conclusion of the inquest, the prisoners were hurried away to the police station, where they will remain until the preliminary hearing on the charge of murder on April 12.

The details of the terrible injuries to Douglas's face were related by Dr. A. W. Hunter, who had performed the autopsy. He gave it as his opinion that Douglas has come to his death as the result of multiple injuries to the face and neck, from which bleeding occurred, with blood escaping into the lungs as he breathed until he suffocated. There was a laceration on his neck as if someone might have held the neck band of the shirt tightly, he said. The structure about the neck might have been a factor in causing suffocation, the witness said.

Moore and Nicholson started drinking in the office of A. K. McMartin Monday afternoon between 5 and 6 o'clock after they had transacted some business with the last named, according to McMartin's evidence. At five minutes to six the men were joined by Marshall Douglas. At 7 o'clock Douglas telephoned his wife, explaining his delay and introducing Moore over the telephone to her. He said he was in the office of A. K. McMartin, and the men left McMartin's office, accompanied by Mr. McMartin. Passing Harold Leslie White's quarters in the Windermere Apartments, he noticed the light burning and in the absence of the tenant, entered.

TALKED LOUDLY
Mr. Weir told of finding the men in his house so drunk that his first impulse was to call the police. He heard the men talking loudly and swearing outside on the street and heard what sounded like a blow. Looking out, he saw Douglas in the face in the light, was bleeding from the face, swearing at Nicholson and endeavoring to hit him.

Nicholson gave Douglas a handkerchief to wipe his face and told him to go away, said the witness. The latter called him names and also a coward for hitting him, and said he would get a gun and shoot him when he sobered up.

Charles M. Stewart, 1161 Thurlow Street, who saw the men fighting, and called the police, testified.

ON THE GROUND

J. H. Hudson, 1147 Thurlow Street, also saw two men fighting and saw one lying on the ground. The other man, whom he later identified as Nicholson, said he had his knee on the other's chest and his hand on his body and was beating him with his right hand. Witness cried out, he testified, saying: "Give him half a chance and don't beat him to death." Both men then stood up and the shorter man (Douglas) appeared very dazed. They had words again, and while Douglas was talking, the railing enclosing the plant area of the Windermere Apartment Building, Nicholson again attacked him, said the witness.

CONSTABLE TESTIFIED

The evidence of Police Constable J. A. Holley, who answered the call with the police patrol, was to the effect that none of the persons on the scene when he arrived, would give evidence as to any fighting.

Inspector Donald McIntosh, on duty at the station, Moore said Douglas was drunk and fell ill. His comrade were trying to take him home. Douglas admitted this also. The inspector added that while Douglas was being taken home, his face was not disfigured. Moore and Nicholson appeared practically normal to him.

Canada, where the three went and secured the use of the room of the day clerk, Thomas J. Grant, 4040 St. Catherine Street, for a few minutes at Moore's request, in order to clean up a little.

Grant has occasion five minutes after the men went to his room to enter it to get a razor blade to give the night clerk, and was introduced to Douglas and Nicholson, who were in the bathroom washing, he said. Douglas's nose was badly swollen. Grant said, and Nicholson was attempting to wipe off the blood. He left shortly and did not hear of the tragedy until aroused from sleep at his home.

LEFT THE HOTEL

John P. Cunningham, night clerk, told Moore and Nicholson leaving the hotel five minutes past 1 o'clock, both very drunk. Moore came downstairs first and Nicholson in the elevator. Moore's hand was covered with blood and it struck him he had been fighting. Nicholson's face was spattered with blood. He was very drunk and staggered around.

The elevator man, F. R. Gould, 1001 Broughton Street, said Moore's hands and clothes of the men were covered with blood, which was not noticeable to him when he went upstairs.

"Moore said to me," declared the witness, "I got hit in the eye, but the other fellow got worse than I did." Nicholson said that how he had found Moore and Nicholson at the corner of Richards and Hastings Streets, both very drunk, at 1:25 o'clock Tuesday morning. Noticing Moore's black eye and blood on his hand, he asked if he had been fighting. The latter replied that he didn't know where he had been. Nicholson had spots of blood on his face and arms, said the witness. The constable called a taxi and sent them to their quarters at Holly Lodge.

CLOTHES IDENTIFIED

Clothes worn by Moore and Nicholson on the night of the tragedy were identified by Detective W. G. Grant. The detective said Nicholson's ring was bloodstained and twisted. There were also cuts on his left hand. The back of Moore's right hand was considerably swollen.

The statements made by Moore and Nicholson to the detectives were read.

They were practically identical. Moore said that after leaving the police station all was a nightmare. He did not remember a fight, nor how his eye had been blackened. He was a peacemaker in the early part of the evening, stopping a fight on the street.

Nicholson said he dimly remembered being in the room at the Canada Hotel, but not leaving it. He had fallen on the street and thought someone hit him on the back of the head. The last he remembered of Douglas was the deceased taking a drink of gin and someone bringing a bottle of gin to the room.

Legion Take Action On Ex-Service Men's Settlement Claims

Action is being taken by the Pro Patria branch of the Canadian Legion to govern the difficulties of several ex-service men who have been obliged to defer settlements of their claims owing to differences as to whether the Dominion Government is responsible under the Pensions Act or the Province under the Workmen's Compensation Act.

The local branch at their last meeting passed the following resolution: "Resolved that the proper authorities of the Canadian Legion of the B.E.S.L. be asked to petition the Government of Canada and the Government of British Columbia, praying that arrangements be made between the two said governments to insure that when a returned soldier falls ill, suffers an accident, or dies, under such circumstances as would entitle the said returned soldier or his dependents to payment of either from funds under the control of the Government of Canada, or from funds under the control of the Government of British Columbia, and when it may

A Dollar Bill to the First Boy

A $1.00 Bill will be given to the first boy entering the store after 10 o'clock to-morrow morning who is able to point out a spelling error in this advertisement. It's not necessary to purchase shoes to benefit. If you have a spelling book, attach a dollar bill to it. Now then, you BRIGHT BOYS. But speaking of spelling, you older folks are not to think that because the prices we are quoting are so low that the quality is not of the highest grade. That would be your

CANCER CURE STILL SOUGHT, AS PRIZE AWAITS CLAIMANT

Lord Atholstan's $100,000
Not Awarded at End of Time Limit

Next Five Years Should be More Fruitful, Medical Experts Believe

London, April 8. (Canadian Press Dispatch)—Will the next five years be more fruitful than the last five in the search for a cure of cancer? For question is a leading topic to-day, for it is just five years since Lord Atholstan, millionaire proprietor of The Montreal Star, offered a prize of $100,000 to the "graduate" or student of any university who, within five years after this date, is the first to discover a medical treatment for the effective cure of cancer, the decision to be left to the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons in London, England.

The prize has not been won, although research workers throughout the world have been continuously struggling with the problem. Now there is a prospect of increasing sums of money being devoted to research and Sir Berkeley Moynihan, one of the world's greatest cancer experts, has issued a call for what he describes as "national uprising against the scourge." Sir Berkeley is President of the Royal College of Surgeons, and in a meeting unique in the history of the world he told his audience of 700 persons that 100 of them would die of cancer.

WHAT PROGRESS?
Two separate questions remain to be answered: (1) What causes cancer? (2) What cures cancer? There is no necessary connection between the answers to these questions. It would be quite possible to find a cure apart from the knowledge of the cause, and on the other hand the discovery of the cause would not make the discovery of a cure certain, although it would probably bring it nearer.

In neither direction can the progress recently made be properly appreciated by anyone who is not an expert. For example, the famous work of Mr. Barnard and Dr. Gye in isolating and examining certain ultra-microscopic organisms said to be associated with cancer is far too technical and ambiguous for the lay mind, which demands clear-cut conclusions. Yet these have been the most striking performances during the past five years in an attempt to answer the question, "What causes cancer?"

Is local irritation the sole cause? Is there a cancer parasite? Has cancer anything to do with bile, blood stream, and if so, can it be controlled by diet? These are some of the questions to a study of which research workers are devoting their lives.

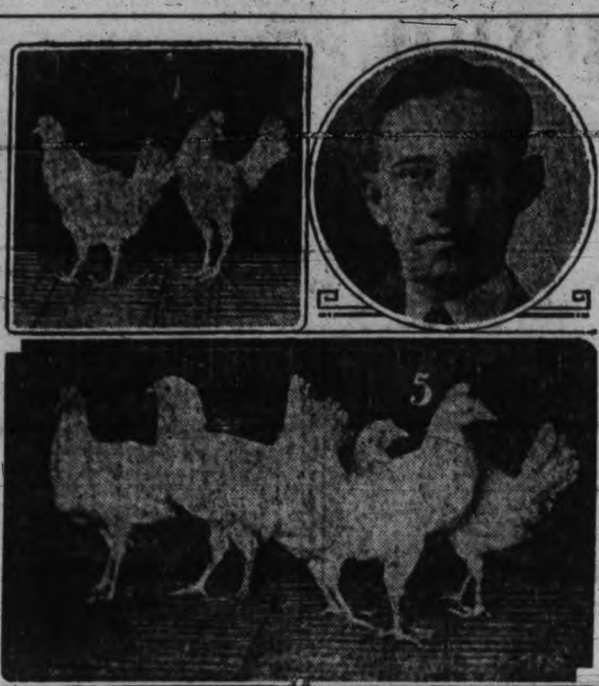

While Sir Berkeley Moynihan's prescription of the knife represents what may be called the official faith of the medical profession, it is by no means allowed to go unchallenged among the specialists. One of the strongholds of opposition is the Hatteras General Hospital. Where non-operative methods appear to have met with considerable success, ORTHODOX REMEDIES

At present there are only three thoroughly orthodox remedies for cancer: (1) Surgery; (2) Radium; (3) X-rays. There is also the lead treatment invented by Dr. Blane Bell of Liverpool, which has succeeded in prolonging life in apparently incurable cases, but which is technically still in its infancy. Dr. Shaw-Macdonald's researches have been solidly received by the profession. It is at any rate a point gained that the stimulating example of the New Health Society should have spurred the latter as a local condition into adopting methods of publicity which would have been thought shocking only a few years ago.

Among the early Greeks the wearing of breeches was considered a badge of slavery.

Pullets Produce Synthetic Eggs

No Grain Is Fed Hens From the Time They Are Hatched

A. R. Winter, in inset, has been able to produce synthetic eggs from pullets raised on a synthetic diet. The pullets in the upper picture are those which have been given such a diet. The birds below had a normal ration.

The remarkable achievement of producing synthetic eggs from hens fed a purely synthetic diet has been accomplished by A. R. Winter of the poultry department of Ohio State University.

Winter selected a group of one-day-old chicks and for thirteen weeks gave them every advantage of sunlight and development of normal birds, except the limitation of their food to a mixture of starch, casein, crisco, salt mixture, agar, cod liver oil and yeast.

The chicks were raised in Ohio State University cages with other birds to compare them with the normal fowl. The pullets fed a synthetic diet appeared normal, and the quality of the eggs they produced were similar to normal eggs, except they were incapable of hatching, thus defeating any attempt to produce a real synthetic chick.

EGGS INFERTILE

"Although the synthetic feeding of the pullets was a success," Winter explains, "the infertile characteristic of the eggs produced has made it impossible to produce a genuine synthetic chick. However, further experiments will be conducted. The shell of the egg appeared normal in every respect. The yolks were almost colorless and the whites appeared a little more watery than usual."

The pullets were fed only purified foods from the time they were hatched. They never tasted corn, wheat, oats, milk, grass or the things that make up a large part of the diet of the ordinary laying hen.

VITAMINES CAUSE CHANGES

"The only serious deficiencies in the synthetic ration," Winter explains, "were vitamins C and E. The lack of vitamin E may have been the cause for the eggs being infertile. This is the vitamin that regulates reproduction."

"Experiments show that the growing chick must have vitamins A, B and D for adequate growth. Apparently B is needed most of all and then A and D."

When vitamin B, supplied by the yeast, was intentionally eliminated from the diet, the chicks died within fourteen days.

The benefit of vitamin C, obtained from lemon juice, in the synthetic diet was shown by the fact that the birds lacking this vitamin fared worse than the others.

POULTRY WORLD LOOKS FORWARD TO GREAT OTTAWA EXHIBITION

Ottawa, April 8.—Work of transforming the Central Canada Exhibition Buildings at Lansdowne Park in preparation for the World's Poultry Congress began this week when J. Oscar Turcotte, Canadian Exhibition Commissioner, and his staff moved out to the grounds and began operations.

From now until July 27 when the congress opens, there will be scenes of great activity about the grounds. One of the aims of the Canadian Exhibition Commission is always to be ready to open an exhibition on the actual date set, and this has been one of the features that has made its work favorably commented upon throughout the world. Mr. Turcotte declares there will be no exception in the case of the World's Poultry Congress and that Canada's exhibit will be in place and complete to the minutest detail several days before July 27.

Designs for displays suitable for presentation to countries, provinces and individuals are being considered by the congress executive. It is desired that something distinctive to mark a world event such as the congress be secured.

J. W. Boulter, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, for Prince Edward Island, was a visitor to the congress offices and conferred with Director Elford and Secretary Rhoades in regard to the exhibit of his province. It is expected that the P.E.I. exhibit will contain a display of silver fox pelts. The province features egg production for export.

Congress executive has fixed the price of admission to the exhibition at Lansdowne Park. The charge will be twenty-five cents for adults, fifteen cents for children and twenty-five cents for motor cars, with parking privileges. It was felt that should entrance fees not be charged, the grounds would be overrun with children who would probably interfere with the study of exhibits by visitors. A morning or two may be set aside when children will be admitted free.

Hon. J. S. Martin, chairman of the Ontario committee of the congress, in order to assist in developing the following live bird committee: G. F. Purser, Windsor; R. Oke, London; W. E. McCall, Simcoe; W. J. Roberts, Hamilton; James Meldrum, J. A. Northey and Harry Bickle, Toronto; J. G. Patterson, Kingston; Walter Rish and J. M. Caldwell, Ottawa.

His Excellency the Governor-General and Lady Willingdon, who will be in residence at Rideau Hall for the week of the World's Poultry Congress, July 27 to August 4, have signified their intention of being present at the garden party to be tendered the delegates to the congress by the Government at the Central Experimental Farm. His Excellency is also to officially welcome the some six thousand delegates at the opening of congress in the auditorium on July 27.

Cyril J. L. Rickwood, leading Ottawa musician, has been appointed chairman of the music committee of the congress. Mr. Rickwood's organization of the Centenary choir of thousands of voices when Ottawa celebrated the 100th year of its founding, and his conducting of same, will be favorably recalled by those who visited the capital last year. It is expected the choir will sing on one night of the congress.

The British exhibit will be an extensive one, and in addition to technical features will comprise models of the famous poultry farms of Lord Dewart and Mr. Thomas Barron, two of the most noted breeders in England. Hon. Miss Frances Amherst and St. Dunstan's School for the Blind are also exhibiting. Official British delegates are Sir Francis Plouffe, permanent under secretary to the Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries, and Mr. Percy Francis, Poultry Commissioner to the Ministry of Agriculture.

His Majesty the King, it is announced, will exhibit pigeons at the congress exhibition, while H.R.H. the Prince of Wales is sending along an exhibit of chickens from his Cornwall farm.

Argentina will be officially represented at the congress by Engineer Luis Maria del Carril, sub-director of Agriculture for the Argentina.

Delegates from the Netherlands will arrive at Halifax on July 20 on board the liner Nieuw Amsterdam. Reservations have been asked for a party of twenty. They are bringing fifty trills of live poultry in addition to a large educational exhibit.

Twenty boxes of dressed poultry have been received in Ottawa, consigned to Secretary Ernest Rhoades, from the Department of Agriculture of Manitoba, and will form part of the provincial exhibit at the congress. The consignment, which has been in cold storage, is one of the first to arrive for the exhibition.

Prof. W. C. Thompson of the New Jersey College of Agriculture who handled the United States display at the World's Poultry Congress of 1924 at Barcelona, Spain, has been named by the United States Government as director of his country's exhibit at the World's Poultry Congress of 1927. He will be in Ottawa from July 27 to August 4. Announcement of the appointment is made by Dr. M. A. Jull, chairman of the United States National Committee. Dr. Jull says the congress at Ottawa will see the largest gathering of American poultrymen ever held.

New Labor Bill In Great Britain is Opposed by Liberals

London, April 8.—The Liberal Party in the House of Commons today registered its objection to the Trades Union Bill, in an amendment to the measure now before the House the opinion is expressed by the Liberals that certain provisions of the proposed bill were not clear and the suggestion is made that the bill should be considered only after these provisions have been elucidated by a impartial committee of inquiry. Meantime, it is stated, the bill will hamper efforts being made to promote industrial peace, and for the time being divert the attention of Parliament from urgent measures of public economy and social reform.

Women Find

Great comfort in this new hygienic pad that discards easily as tissue—no laundry

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND Registered Nurse

ON many important counts, women are deserting the old-time "sanitary pad."

There is a new way. A way that multiplies protection. A way, too, that solves the old problem and embarrassment of disposal.

It is called "KOTEX." Ends the insecurity of the old-time sanitary pad. 5 times as absorbent! And odorless—ends all fear of offending.

As easily disposed of as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You get it at any drug or department store simply by saying "KOTEX." Ask without hesitancy.

Eight in 10 better class women employ it. Proves old ways an unnecessary risk. Be sure to get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MARY MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

Mrs. E. M. C. Writes: "I have been reading your column for some time. My baby is seven months old and weighs about twenty-five pounds; she has a good disposition and takes two naps a day. I do not know how to take these naps. It is always ready to sleep. If she fails to get them she is cross and doesn't know what to do with herself. I think it better to let her sleep than to have her cross. She goes to bed at 7:30 p.m. and sleeps all night. She gets a quart of milk a day from a bottle. She began to walk at fourteen months, and is now getting along very well. I bought good stuff shoes for her. Is this bow-legged because she is fat? When should I take the bottle from her? I don't want her to have it all summer."

ANSWER
You are wise to allow the baby to sleep all she wants to. The babies are likewise the best sleepers because they are rested and without nervousness. Babies seldom sleep too much.
The stiff-ankled shoes don't meet with my approval. I believe in nature developing its own strength without artificial support. If the ankles are constantly supported in stiff, tight-laced or buttoned shoes the muscles of the ankle get no exercise at all and become flabby and limp. If the baby is bow-legged, she needs good liver oil, and sunlight directly on her legs, as well as the right diet for her age.
She may be getting too much milk.

WANT WOMEN ON GET A TARIFF ADVISORY BOARD

Suggestion That Women Best Fitted to Discuss Customs on Household Articles

Toronto, Ont., April 8.—That an auxiliary board of two or three women be appointed to discuss customs on household use articles being considered or that one woman be appointed to the tariff and taxation advisory board was the substance of a petition passed by the Toronto Women's Liberal Association at the meeting recently. Mrs. Walter Creswick gave her support to tariff investigation and recommended that the petition be served to the Prime Minister.
That the Toronto Women's Liberal Association backs Colonel Mitchell in his contention that the tariff board should be forced to retain a certain standard if it is going to be circulated in Canada was one of the suggestions brought up at the meeting and referred to the executive for further discussion as to the step the association would take.
A petition is about to be presented to the board of governors of Toronto University requesting them to establish a four-year course leading to a degree in physical education. Mrs. A. C. McNaughton pointed out in her educational report that the boys and girls in the High schools throughout the country are lacking in leadership in matters of physical education.
In speaking of the study of French in the schools, Mrs. MacNaughton said that the knowledge of the native tongue of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Ernest Lapointe could have an injurious effect upon children.

Successful Silver Tea Aids Fund For War Memorial

The Esquimalt war memorial fund was aided by the sum of $58 through the silver tea and card party held at the home of Mrs. Booth, 923 Esquimalt Road, on Wednesday, it being the anniversary of Mrs. Booth's birthday. Mrs. Booth, a daughter of the late Mr. Booth, presented her with a bouquet of violets and primroses on behalf of the Child Hygiene and Edna May Kyles presented a beautiful pot of hydrangea on behalf of the Esquimalt Women's Institute.
Rev. Canon Stockton, in an interesting little speech, touched on the work that is being done by Mrs. Booth and her willing helpers for the children and women of the district. The tea-tables were prettily decorated with carnations, daffodils and lilies. A dainty afternoon tea was served, those assisting being Mrs. J. L. Lock, Mrs. C. Brown, Appleby and Brooker. A home-cooking stall, filled with dainties was under the management of Mrs. Kelly, and did a brisk trade.
At 8 p.m. a whist drive was held, the prize winners being: Ladies (first, Mrs. Elrick; second, Mrs. Adams; third, Mrs. C. Brown; Dalloway; third, Mr. C. Brown). The winner of the cooked chicken was Mrs. Elrick; cake, Mrs. C. Brown, and the large box of chocolates was won by Mr. Davis with the name of "Pansy." The Reeve of Esquimalt and Mrs. Elrick were present and spent a most enjoyable time. The party dispersed at 11:30.

Aged Woman's Home.—The name of Mrs. Shotbolt, who generously gave fresh salmon, was in advertisement omitted from the list of donations to the Aged Women's Home published yesterday.

BILL CAMERON Was Tellin' Me

—that a great many people don't know that our office is open from seven thirty in the morning until six o'clock in the evening and remember—we're open all Saturday afternoon, too. Due to a custom which sprang up a while back, we aren't allowed to stay on the job Sundays, but all the rest of the workin' hours of the week there we are, servin' satisfied customers right and left. Right now, they all seem to be particularly well pleased with that millwood and bark slabs I've been braggin' on. We're gettin' lots of compliments and a lot of repeat business. In makin' up scores for the day we figure one repeat order as worth a whole half of compliments—not that we don't appreciate the glad words, 'cause the compliment of to-day is the re-order of to-morrow, but in the meantime they won't buy records for the radio. NEWS IN BRIEF

The Catholic ladies of South Saanich will hold their annual bridge and five hundred social on Tuesday, April 19, in the Saanich Agricultural Hall.

Charged with driving to the common danger on the Esquimalt Road, Sam McVee and John Sutherland were each fined $20 in the Esquimalt police court by Magistrate Jay.

R. Chave will deliver an interesting lecture at the Douglas Street Baptist Church on Tuesday evening at 7.30 o'clock. The subject will be "A Tour Through Northern India." The lecture will be illustrated by lantern views.

All members of the Naval Veterans' branch of the Canadian Legion are requested to muster at the Armories, Bay Street, at 2 p.m., Sunday, April 10, for the purpose of taking part in the parade to Beacon Hill Park, by invitation.

Seeds for planting in the annual Rotary Club seed growing contest are now available at the offices of the club's secretary, 1008 Broad Street. All boys and girls competing are asked to call as soon as possible to obtain their supplies.

The tuberculous section of the B.E. S.L. wishes to thank all persons who so kindly donated books at the recent book shower. Thanks are also due to the ladies' auxiliary, the press, David Spencer's Limited and all others who helped to make the shower a success.

Albert M. Grice, charged with being in possession of certain canvas knowing the same to have been stolen, was sentenced to one month's imprisonment in the city police court by Magistrate Jay this morning. Accused pleaded not guilty, and said that he had been given the canvas, the property of S. Humphrey.

At the conclusion of the action of Wollaston vs. the Victoria Mines Limited, Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald handed down judgment awarding damages amounting to $5,618.45 in favor of the plaintiff, trustee in bankruptcy for Ross Johnson Limited, against the Victoria Mines, P. C. Elliott appeared for the plaintiff and T. M. Miller for the defendant company.

Announcement was made this morning by J. E. B. Dickson, manager of P. Burns and Co. Limited here that the price of beef has risen considerably during the last three or four days. The market on the United States side is particularly short, said Mr. Dickson, and beef is being brought into Vancouver alive, and then shipped to the other side. The United States buyers are picking up the Canadian beef from Winnipeg, Manitoba.

At the meeting of the Victoria branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada held last night, E. E. Carpenter, M.E.I.C., consulting engineer of the B.C.E.R., and C. W. Colvin of the construction department, spoke on "The Alouette Hydroelectric Plant at Stave Lake." The development of the dam and spillway were shown in pictorial form. The action of this giant power plant was thoroughly explained by the two speakers.

The present situation in China is focusing attention on that part of the world and creating a demand for reliable information as to the cause of the trouble. With the view of giving some information on the matter a meeting has been arranged to take place in the Forum Hall, 711 Pandora Street, at 7.30 Sunday evening, when Dr. E. B. Gung will speak on the subject "The Cause of the Chinese Entanglement and Its Remedies." Dr. Gung was born in China, but educated in the local schools and graduated in medicine from the University of Toronto, and is now connected with the Chinese Medical Mission. A keen student of Chinese affairs, his address on Sunday night should be worth hearing.

Annual Dance of National Motor Co. To be Held To-night

To-night the staff of the National Motor Company will hold their annual dance at the Foresters' Hall, Placed Street. The Am-energetic committee has been working on the affair and according to reports the patrons are assured of a good time. Dancing will commence at 9 o'clock and continue until 1 o'clock, with Freddy Mould's orchestra providing the music.

Refreshments will be served and it is expected there will be a large attendance of dance lovers.

Governor Plays Golf At the Oak Bay Links

The Governor-General and Lady Willington played golf at the Victoria Golf Club yesterday afternoon. In a foursome Lady Willington and A. C. Watts-Jones won the Governor-General and W. H. Molson. Capt. Jarvis, His Excellency's aide-de-camp, played a threesome with Harold Wilson and Phil Taylor, the club pro.

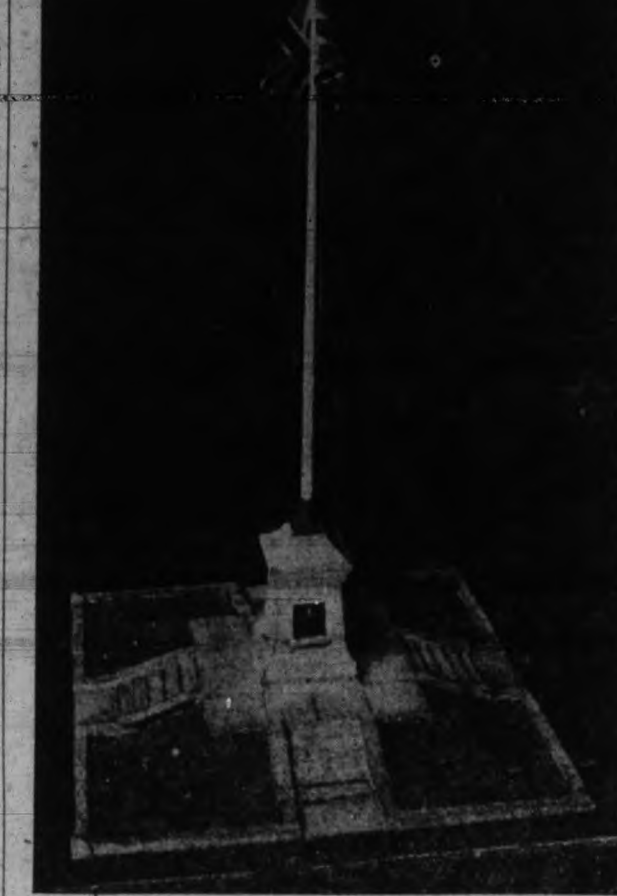

Premier to Present Medal to Old-Timer

Premier Oliver will return to his desk to-morrow after his trip to Armstrong to attend yesterday's North Okanagan Liberal nominating convention. Next week the Premier will go to Princeton to present a Royal Humane Society's medal to W. A. Davis, an old-time prospector, for his bravery in rescuing Miss Mary Warburton, a Vancouver nurse, who was lost in the Hope Mountains last year.

Great Oil Land Leases in Alberta

Lethbridge, April 8.—The greatest filing event of the year occurred at the local Dominion Land Office on Wednesday and Thursday of this week when Toronto interests blighted 80,000 acres of petroleum leases in Townships 7 and 8, Ranges 1 to 5, West 4. About $50,000 was paid over in filing fees. The area is in the Cypress Hills district southeast of Medicine Hat. Drilling sites will be staked immediately, it is stated.

MEMORIAL UNDER CONSTRUCTION

The Esquimalt War Memorial now in course of erection will shortly be completed and ready for unveiling. It is costing approximately $2,100 and of this amount $2,000 has been donated by public subscription.

Under an agreement with the Esquimalt Council the necessary funds were to be at the disposal of the committee for the completed memorial, such agreement being good during the term of the 1926 council. To make this possible a guarantor came forward and deposited the sum required in the bank, free of interest. This sum the committee is pledged to refund, and it is endeavoring to do so before the memorial is unveiled. Social events, entertainments and so on are being staged to raise the balance required.

The committee is making an earnest appeal to those who have not yet contributed or who may have been overlooked during the canvass for donations. Subscriptions may be sent direct to G. W. Brooker, 1376 Esquimalt Road, Esquimalt.

This memorial is being erected in the centre of the public park, situated on the main road of Esquimalt, and promises to make the park one of the beauty spots in the Victoria district. The exact amount required, with balance sheet to date together with latest list of donations, will be published in the press as soon as all the accounts are in the hands of the treasurer.

PIPELINE PATROL VETERAN PASSES

Wm. Speed, Native Son, Dies Suddenly at Sooke Lake; Inquest To-morrow

William Speed, elderly patrolman of the Sooke Lake waterworks pipeline, was found dead in his cabin at Sooke Lake yesterday morning. On Wednesday night, when Mr. Speed failed to answer telephone calls, Patrolman J. W. Saul went to investigate, and made the discovery. The patrolman lay on the floor of his dwelling, apparently suddenly stricken.

Constables Jacklin and Gidley brought the body to Victoria. Mr. Speed was sixty-three years of age, and was born in Victoria. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Speed, resided at Bolekine Road, formerly in the Victoria district. For nearly ten years Mr. Speed has been a pipeline patrolman.

He is survived by his widow and five children, James Speed, 535-Toronto Street; Oliver Speed, 927 Jackson Street; Mrs. Violet Marshall, San Francisco; Mrs. H. Jolibois, Sooke, and Mrs. M. Christopher, Victoria.

An inquest will be held to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Alberni

The regular meeting of the Alberni City Council was held in the city hall this week with all members of the council present. A large amount of routine business was disposed of, and the clerk was instructed to secure the necessary copies of the financial statement.

The following were the prize winners at the weekly five hundred tournament being held in All Saint's Church Hall under the auspices of the Alberni branch of the West Coast General Hospital Women's Auxiliary: Ladies first, Mrs. F. G. Cox; consolation, Mrs. Ryler; gentlemen's first L. A. Pineo; consolation, P. G. Cox.

At the annual meeting of the Alberni Tennis Club, held in Mr. Freese's office, the following officers were elected: President, C. J. Spratt; vice-president, W. A. Ackland; secretary-treasurer, A. H. Morrison; committee, Miss R. Redford, Mrs. H. M. T. Hodgson, Mrs. P. Haslam, H. R. Carter and Rev. A. Maclean. Votes of thanks were passed to the retiring officers and the financial statement showed the club to be in a sound condition. The annual dance will be held very shortly and the arrangements for this are in the hands of H. R. Carter.

The annual daffodil show of the Alberni District Horticultural Society in the same place in the evening. It is hoped that there will be a large entry list for the show and also a large attendance at the city will be held in the Community Hall, Port Alberni, on Easter Monday, followed by the annual Daffodil dance.

Prize lists can be secured either from the secretary, Mrs. E. B. Garard, or from any member of the committee.

GOOD FRUIT CROPS PROMISED FOR B.C. IN PRESENT SEASON

Okanagan Prospects Bright, Experts Report After Interior Investigation

Small Fruit Output Likely to Be Lighter; Irrigation Water Abundant

British Columbia orchards promise to produce a large apple crop this year but not as large as the bumper output of 1926, experts of the Department of Agriculture reported on their return here after investigations in the Okanagan Valley.

The condition of the apple trees now indicates that they will bear heavily. On the other hand, present indications point to a lighter yield of peaches, apricots and small fruits than usual. On the whole, therefore, the per acre crop of the Okanagan will be smaller this year than in 1926 when fruit men produced a huge crop but experienced serious difficulties in marketing it. With a lighter crop this year, prices are likely to prove stronger.

WEATHER BACKWARD

Fruit trees are backward this year owing to late spring weather. This condition is not confined to the Okanagan Valley, however, as all crops are from two weeks to a month behind their usual growth at this season, agricultural officials state. Continued bad weather has held up seeding operations in the Fraser Valley and other Coast districts.

The fruit industry appears assured of plenty of water for irrigation purposes this year, reports to the agricultural department show. With plenty of snow in the hills there should be no water shortage at any time during the coming summer. Last year lack of moisture was a serious problem in the fruit districts.

DOCTOR ON MISSION SHIP IS IN DEMAND

Isolated Citizens on Vancouver Island Appreciate Medical Aid

Sayward, B.C., April 8.—The medical officer of the mission ship Columbia, Dr. Watkins, M.D., has had his hands full lately, with all his widely scattered patients. Unlike town, he is seldom called unless the case is considered very dangerous and home treatment is not effective. The Columbia has to be kept constantly in readiness so as to proceed without delay to the widely distant places, up and down the coast, from which SOS calls are received on their wireless, relayed from Alert Bay, her headquarters and where she may be reached through the Government Telegraph. That these isolated citizens have the benefit of medical treatment at their call is due to the foresightedness and generous assistance of Rev. John Antle, superintendent of the Columbia Coast Mission, who also acts as captain of the Columbia, on which he resides most of the time, in order to supervise his wide and extensive area of operations. Undoubtedly this action of his in establishing a doctor on his boat has been the means of alleviating much suffering, and in saving many lives.

Quite a large party went out on steamship Venture, Sunday morning bound for Vancouver, mostly people subpoenaed as witnesses for the trial of Scotty Sumpter of Hardwick Island, who is charged with wounding his friend, Chris Knudson, in a quarrel there some time ago. Big Chris was one of the party and while awaiting the boat, with others in the Kelsey Bay Store, had himself weighed, turning the scales at 222 pounds. Apparently the injuries he received in the fracas had affected him little. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lewis Jr., were also of the party, returning home to North Vancouver after spending a very enjoyable three weeks' holiday in the valley, where their time was fully occupied in trying to satisfy the claims of their host of friends all anxious to entertain them.

At present the centre of attraction here is the wharf. Hitherto, it was a thing, inanimate, but since Stan Smith assumed the position of wharfinger, it has become a thing of life. Before inhabitants brought or took their stuff without a word. Now they all talk to Stan, when on these errands. After all has been said, one must admit that a wharfinger is a necessary, where freight for so many people is being handled, especially as in the case of Sayward, the wharf is such a long distance from the settlement. A shipment of "large fruit" trees has just arrived and is being distributed to the buyers. They include apples, pears, plums, prunes etc., mostly of varieties that have succeeded well in this valley. There is prospects of Sayward becoming quite a fruit growing district, as the trees already bearing in the orchards here may be numbered by the thousands.

The Sayward Upper Valley School Miss C. Blakemore, teacher, received a visit from Inspector of Schools W. H. M. May during the forenoon of April 5, who also visited the Lower Valley School, Miss D. K. Bagshaw teacher, during the afternoon. To make his inspection of our schools Mr. May, after landing at the wharf had a journey of nearly twenty miles to travel before reaching there again to take a boat across Johnstone Strait to Hardwicke Island School where Miss A. G. Bakke is teacher.

Airplane freight companies of Europe are planning to issue international bills of lading.

PLANS TO OBSERVE ST. GEORGE'S DAY

One Hundred Leading Citizens
Will be Invited to Banquet

On account of St. George's Day this year falling on the 10th of April, it has been decided to hold the annual banquet in commemoration, on the Wednesday following. A special committee is now at work making plans for what promises to be an even greater celebration than heretofore. To this end, a special invitation is being extended by the committee to 100 of Victoria's leading citizens of English birth or extraction to attend the annual banquet, and thus help to do even greater honor in perpetuating the memory of English traditions of English valor, and her great accomplishments in every field of intellectual activity.

MEMORY OF SHAKESPEARE

The committee is also desirous of keeping to the fore at its annual gathering, the memory of William Shakespeare, who was born and died on St. George's Day. A special toast will be proposed to the immortal memory of England's bard at the banquet. At a recent meeting of the committee on arrangements, it was decided to hold a tag day on St. George's Day, to assist some worthy cause, but owing to the fact that the T.B. Veterans are holding a tag day on St. George's Day, it has been decided to give the veterans active support on its appeal to the citizens of that day.

In order to accommodate the ever-increasing attendance, it has been decided to hold the annual banquet this year in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce. The programme of artists, is being given careful attention by Douglas Fletcher and his committee; whilst the selection of speakers has been left in the hands of the Hon. R. W. Lee, president, and Harry Langley, secretary of the society.

Invitations are extended to kindred societies to join in this great annual celebration, and will be cordially welcomed.

Tickets are now available, and may be secured at the office of the secretary.

Telegraph Briefs

New York, April 8.—The exodus from Fifth Avenue of famed families continues. Jay Gould, retired squash tennis champion, has sold his home at 1107 Fifth Avenue, near 82nd Street, and leased a top floor apartment at 44 East 57th Street. This leaves only two Goulds on Fifth Avenue listed in the social register. Of the Vanderbilts only three families remain on the Avenue.

New York, April 8.—Two or three law students locked out the dean of the Columbia University extension of the Brooklyn Law School and then the dean locked out 100. The suspension was to stand, he said, until he found out who turned the key in the classroom door and kept him outside while the class twiddled its thumbs within.

Chicago, April 8.—The largest postal card ever sent through the mails, so far as known here, reached Chicago today from Indianapolis and proved an invitation to post office clerks to attend the National convention of their organization to be held in Indianapolis. It is three feet long and two feet wide and required one dollar in postage to carry it.

Chicago, April 8.—Vincent de Paol, twenty-six, said to be the author of a book on crime, was sentenced to one year in the Bridewell today, for the theft of $1,200 in bonds on April 11, 1926. While serving a nine-months' sentence in Sing Sing, he won a prize of $1,000 and a trip around the world in an advertising copy contest. De Paol was at one time an advertising man.

Springfield, Ill., April 8.—Henry B. Rankin, who was studying law in Abraham Lincoln's law office when Lincoln was elected president, celebrated his ninetieth anniversary here today. He recalled Lincoln's writing the Cooper Union speech and the "House Divided" Against Itself" speech. Asked by Senator Thomas Rees, publisher of the State Register, if he helped Lincoln write his speeches, he declared, "No, Lincoln didn't need help. He wrote all his own speeches."

Kingsville, Ont., April 8.—Following his usual annual practice, Jack Miner, the naturalist, this year tagged and liberated 23 Canadian wild geese. Of this number he found that twenty-one had the police credit him with twenty or more. He will do no more marrying for two and a half years, at least, having been sent to Sing Sing for larceny from one of his birds.

London, April 8.—Unwedded, Miss Victoria Grant has become Mrs. Victoria Grant. She had been appointed housekeeper at Balmoral Castle and that title goes with the position. Queen Victoria was her godmother.

New York, April 8.—George Schults, sixty-seven-year-old shoemaker, insists he can recall more than five marriages, but the police credit him with twenty or more. He will do no more marrying for two and a half years, at least, having been sent to Sing Sing for larceny from one of his birds.

Toronto, April 8.—Following revelations at the customs probe here yesterday of the selling of strong beer by local hotels, several hotelkeepers appeared in police court today and were fined $300 for illegal sale of beer.

Thanks be For Home and Work

By Olive Roberts Barton

A certain mother went away on a trip. The entire family had planned and connived to give her the chance.

Now it isn't exactly like families to worry much whether mother has a vacation or not, and this family was no exception. It was not entirely unselfish in its maneuver to get her away.

"Anything on earth to pull up the corners of her mouth!" said Mary. "If she'd only stay in bed long enough to get rested!" sighed Anne. "But she'd only say she was tired, or than ever when she got up, I suppose."

"She has worked beyond her strength for years. She needs to play. It's only her nerves," said father with a penetration amazing in a male. "Girl, I'll scare up the money and you see if you can help her with some clothes. Or she goes next week to visit Aunt Dora. That's the life your mother needs for a while. Society will live her up."

Three weeks later mother returned. The corners of her mouth were up, there was a light of real happiness in her eyes, and a spring in her step.

"Mother! You must have had a wonderful time," they cried. "You look splendid!"

Mother threw off her hat and looked at them lovingly. "I'm looking this way because I'm home again," she confessed. "It isn't any joy for what have had. It is for what I have to look forward to again—Home—and work!"

"Work!" they chorused.

"Yes, work! I've discovered what a four I've been. Complaining because I've had so much work to do! I don't work half as hard as you! Aunt Dora and her society friends managing big establishments and keeping up social obligations. I don't work half as hard as any actress I've seen or any of the millions of people I've always envied. The whole world's working, from Judy O'Grady to the Colonel's lady. And I've learned the lesson of my life. I'll never say I am tired again."

FARMER ENDED LIFE

Tompkins, Sask., April 8.—"In order to be free from the cares and vicissitudes of this life," according to a note left for a neighbor, Gus M. Lowe, sixty-five, a farmer who lived sixteen miles north of here, committed suicide yesterday by shooting.

MARY BRIAN BEAUTY
BOTH ON AND OFF THE MOVING PICTURE LOT

Mary Brian who is featured in "Her Father Said No," an F. B. O. Gold Bond Special, now showing at the Variety theatre, is one of the best actresses in favor of color photography. Mary, who is a beauty, screens very well but in the flesh she is a ravishingly lovely person, even prettier than her screen self.

Where To Go To-night

Columbia—"Desert Valley."
Capitol—"Orchids and Ermine."
Dominion—"Heaven on Earth."
Variety—"Her Father Said No."
Coliseum—"Poor John."
Playhouse—"The Dollar Princess."
Crystal Garden—Swimming and Dancing.

And this is because of her remarkable coloring. The little actress has the kind of complexion that poets rave about, and that the popular ad promises to the users of their various waxes. Her eyes, however, are almost startling in their color. The screen reveals that they are unusual by large and expressive, and that the weight of the long lashes is almost too much for the lids. But here is the surprise, the eyes are a deep and clear green. And this set off this enchanting color scheme, Mary's face is framed with dark brown hair—long hair with the suggestion of a wave, and which is entirely as it grew, and not the product of a beauty parlor.

BUCK JONES'S HORSE IS TEMPERAMENTAL
IN "DESERT VALLEY"

Silver, Buck Jones's horse, which appears with him in "Desert Valley," Fox Films release starring Jones, which will have a showing at the Columbia Theatre, is temperamental. Performing before a camera isn't easy work for a horse, according to Buck.

A human star has his intermittent off-days and it is only logical to suppose that a "screen" horse has his as well. At any rate, Buck has observed a contrariness on the part of Silver on certain days, that is entirely absent when he is in a good mood.

"Horse temperamental—why not?" asks Buck. On such off-days occasions, Buck understands and knows just how to handle the situation. He leads Silver aside and puts him through a number of stunts not featured in the current production. After a while, Silver gets over his mild tantrum, regains interest in his work, and is ready to resume action in the picture.

CONRAD NAGEL PLAYS FIRST FRENCHMAN OF

Conrad Nagel plays the first Frenchman of his career in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Heaven on Earth," at the Dominion Theatre. Nagel has continued to Englishmen and Americans for years, but this time broadens his field by playing a young French vagabond. Renee Adoree is seen opposite him in the role of a young egyptian girl. Nagel plays the role of a young artist in rebellion against the commercial plans which his parents have for him.

RUSSIAN BARITONE DELIGHTS BIG CROWDS
AT CAPITOL THEATRE

The weather man is an important person in motion picture circles. Much of the credit for the success of Colleen Moore's newest, "Orchids and Ermine," most playing at the Capitol Theatre, belongs to him.

Some of the most important scenes in the picture, including a love sequence between Colleen and Jack Mulhall, take place with the rain pouring down.

The vaudeville attractions at the Capitol Theatre all this week are exceptionally entertaining. The first act introduces Alexander Akimoff, the noted Russian baritone, late of the Petrograd Opera House, in a special programme of song selections. The second, offers Stadler and Duffin, the Original Rag Doll Dancers, in a dainty exhibition of terpsichorean art. The Capitol Theatre Concert Orchestra will play for the feature attractions.

DRAMATIC PANORAMA OF NEW YORK SHOWN ON PLAYHOUSE SCREEN

Arthur Train's exciting novel of contemporary New York life, "The Blind Goddess," all this week at the Playhouse has at last reached the screen via Paramount and the directorial chaperone of Victor Fleming. Jack Mulhall, Esther Ralston, Ernest Torrence and Louise Dresser are featured at the head of a large and competent cast.

The novel depicts the struggle between right and wrong from an interesting and powerful theme for this new romance-drama.

The story, in brief, portrays the thrilling romance of a young and cutting attorney, who is forced to sacrifice the girl he loves to adhere to his ideal of duty. The action is laid in a background that ranges from the grim routine of the criminal courts to the smart social atmosphere of Fifth Avenue's exclusive homes.

Movie "Schools" Swindle Scores of Film-struck Youths

Hollywood, Cal., April 8.—One of the greatest menaces out here in this town known as the film capital is movie schools. Their chief source of revenue is from unsuspecting girls and boys who come here from all parts of the country to "crash" celluloid.

These schools advertise free screen tests which turn out to be pretty expensive. When an applicant enters the office, he or she, is told that it is a perfect type for movie work. Then he is told that it would be a shame for him to take a test before he has had some instruction because a bad test might ruin all his chances for a film career. The usual price for a course in make-up and acting is $50.

After the course has been paid for, there are other things the student must purchase, amounting to approximately $25. After this expenditure he is given the "free" screen test.

Applicants are told upon entering the schools that they are guaranteed jobs as actors upon completion of the instruction course. Perhaps one out of twenty gets a job as an "extra." The others can't even get inside a studio.

Police have often closed most of the so-called schools because of the atmosphere of graft that surrounds them. But the laws apparently are lax and they always reopen. I know of one school, now operating full blast, that has been closed on four different occasions and the proprietor threatened with jail. But the penalty is never handed out.

Here's one for the men. Fred Niblo, noted director, declares they take better screen tests than women. The reason he gives is that the schools primarily their appearance rather than their acting ability. Until they have had experience, they neglect acting for beautifying.

MUSICAL NOTES

By G.J.D.

Buenos Ayres, Argentina, is to have a long season of grand opera. It begins next month and will be continued to the end of August. Of course, it is the winter season "down under." There is a large list of new "novelties" included in the gigantic programme, which also includes twenty-five operas.

Arthur Honegger is the name of a Swiss composer. He is a modernist and wrote recently a symphonic poem called "Pacific 231" by listening to an express train out of a London station. He was tremendously impressed on his trip to England with the trains and the London husses.

The sudden passing of Walter Rothwell, the conductor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, has left this distinguished music organization without a permanent conductor. It will perhaps be remembered that through the present writer, this splendid orchestra, under Mr. Rothwell, played here some seasons ago.

If my memory serves me aright, "W. H. R." was a familiar name known as an Englishman, and was born in London fifty-five years ago. He came to the States when a young man. For a time he was conductor for Henry Healy, Opera Company, and conducted the St. Paul Symphony Orchestra for several years. He was scheduled to conduct at the Hollywood Bowl this coming Summer.

Eugene Goossens, the English conductor, has a repeat engagement at the "Bowl" next July.

Barcelona, Spain, has had a busy opera season, which included many Wagnerian operas.

Quebec is preparing for a somewhat pretentious folk song festival, to be held next month.

Geraldine Farrar, for many years prima donna soprano, at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, is to return to the concert platform. She has been working steadily with her voice for some time. She sang in Vancouver a year or so ago.

Otto Kahn, banker and well-known patron of music, recently told a newspaperman in London that he thought "the younger generation will give the world just as efficient businessmen, just as fertile artists and inventors, just as courageous pioneers and every bit as able statesmen as their forebears." Time and tide wait for no man, the world must and will "carry on."

The London Symphony Orchestra recently devoted a whole programme of Sir Edward Elgar's works, the composer himself conducting. It is said that the highest prized of all Elgar's orchestral works, is the "Pomp and Circumstance" march.

Eight thousand people turned out to hear Fritz Kreisler the other day at San Francisco.

A ballot, undertaken by the Columbia Company upon the ten music composers, who have given the world its greatest music, resulted as follows: Beethoven 100; Wagner 90; Bach 85; Mozart 80; Brahms 75; Schubert 70; Chopin 75; Tchaikovsky 65; Handel 60 and Schumann 52.

American audiences are to hear for the first time in America very shortly, Arthur Bliss's symphony "Hymn to Apollo." Peculiarly enough this young Englishman's works are more widely known abroad than his own country.

Those who have heard Mischa Elman here more than once will be interested to know what London thinks of him, following his recent recital here. "He proved thorough in his right to be regarded as all in all, our ideal among modern violinists." By the way, the young English violinist, Harold Shapero, is rapidly coming to the fore. He is said to be a player of rare achievement.

The Gilbert and Sullivan opera season has proved a great success. It is a fact that just at present the favorite operas by these matched collaborators are enjoying more than their usual "perennial popularity." Their most familiar operas are "Cox and Box" (1867); "Trial by Jury" (1875); "The Yeomen of the Guard" (1888); "The Pirates of Penzance" (1879); "Princess Ida" (1884); "The Mikado" (1885); "Hobson's Choice" (1871); "The Gondoliers" (1889).

AEROPANES DUST
COTTON IN PERU

Lima, Peru, April 8.—Peru is following the lead in using aeroplanes for dusting cotton field with poison for a pest worm, plant lice and boll weevil.

Five duster aeroplanes were imported for this work. The planes are of special make, so that they can fly at a speed of about thirty miles an hour twenty-five feet above the field to be dusted.

The poison cast from the hopper built into the plane is caught in the blast of the propeller and spread over a path 200 feet wide.

It is planned to dust more than 50,000 acres of cotton in the Canete and Chincha valleys with calcium arsenate dust. It is believed that this work will protect practically all the cotton grown in the Canete valley and most of the cotton in the Chincha valley against the boll weevil at an estimated saving of $500,000.

One of the largest firms of pearl dealers in Japan has built in the Grand Imperial Shrine of Ise a miniature pagoda in which more than 10,000 pearls are used. This monument is dedicated to the "souls of pearl oysters," which the Japanese believe, must be honored when they are robbed of their pearls.

CENTENARY
OF BEETHOVENNations Join With Old Capital in Honoring Memory of Great Musician

Vienna.—The Government of Austria and the City of Vienna, where Beethoven spent his early years, the most significant part of his creative life, and where he produced all of his greatest works, began to-day an elaborate memorial observance of the centenary of his death on March 26, 1827. Visitors from many quarters are here. The American Government is represented by Carl Engelhead of the Music Department of the Library of Congress and Oscar Sonneck of the American Association of Music, and memory and knowledge of Beethoven. The British Government is represented by Sir Hugh Allen, head of the Royal College of Music, London, and by many private individuals.

The programme began with a festival gathering in the hall of the Musikverein. After greetings from President Paul Schreiner, the Chancellor Seipel, the Minister of Education and the Burgomaster of Vienna, representatives of no fewer than thirteen countries expressed their feelings about Beethoven and his significance. Pietro Mascagni spoke for Italy.

A musical programme under Weingartner's direction comprised Beethoven's cantata on the death of Kaiser Joseph II and a fantasia for chorus, solo and orchestra. Beethoven was not made to put his best musical foot forward in this. The cantata, a deeply worked in his twentieth year, was a proper expression of official grief without the personal note. These were followed by the choral and fantasia for piano, chorus and orchestra, whose chief interest was the foreshadowing of choral melody in the Ninth Symphony and certain features of its treatment.

For Beethoven allowed to put his best foot forward this evening at the opera. "The Ruins of Athens," an arrangement by Strauss and Hofmannsthal, and Gluck's "Ballet Don Juan" were given. The "Ruins of Athens" had been composed for the theatre at Budapest, an "occasional piece," with the limitations of such a work.

Several attempts have been made to make it available for the modern stage, that of Strauss being the most successful. As a result, the many changes as the substitution of the "Prometheus" overture for what Beethoven wrote, the insertion of some Straussian bits and a very large slice of the "Prometheus" ballet. The ballet was before, including the famous tune Beethoven liked so much that he used it also in the "Eroica" symphony and for a set of pianoforte variations.

The present text of course is much changed. The work makes a superb spectacle, with much entirely modern touches.

Gluck's ballet represents an old legend of thirty years before Mozart's opera. It was revolutionary for its time in seriousness. There was much charming, mid-eighteenth century music and much twentieth century dancing nudity.

THE OUTSTANDING FEATURES
From now on performance will number two or more daily, some continuing the outstanding features. The first will be the "Missa Solenne" and Goethe's drama, "Egmont," with all of Beethoven's music, on Sunday; number music performances on Monday; on Tuesday evening historical operas not connected with Beethoven; Puccini's "Dido and Aeneas," Pergolesi's "La Serva Padrona," ballet by Rameau, which will be repeated on Wednesday an orchestral concert and on Thursday a gala performance of "Fidelio."

There will be a pilgrimage to Beethoven's tomb and excursions to places in the neighboring country that Beethoven loved. At the same time the International Congress of Musical History will be going on at an university, where learned papers will be presented. It will be an embarrassment of riches.

Beethoven's credit, however much she may have neglected Mozart and starved Schubert, that she fully realized Beethoven's greatness during his lifetime and did not let him starve, that he and his art, due to the Napoleonic upheaval and private griefs, the city honored him fully more than any other musician.

His highly and exclusive aristocracy was proud of his presence and welcomed it. So it is no belated recognition, no penitential atonement that the city and state are offering to the sons of Beethoven now. They may have buried Mozart in a nameless and forgotten grave, but they will hold a distinguished ceremony at Beethoven's grave in the Central Cemetery to-morrow.

NEWSPAPERS FULL OF EVENT
The newspapers are full of reflection and forth by the anniversary. Perhaps they are little more than due to self abasement over the master's last unhappy days, but much of his trouble was due to family circumstances that were unavoidable. He is said to have been abandoned by the court and patrons, and only comforted by a gift of money from the London Philharmonic Society. But these were pitiful and short-lived. He had troubles of their own. He died, surrounded by friends. They say he died ten years too early at fifty-seven years of age, but he died of an incurable disease despite the best medical care of the day.

Political lessons are drawn in the newspapers from his untimely death. They were in the speeches this morning. Beethoven was a hater of war, and now is the time for the renewed brotherhood of man, which he hymned in his Ninth Symphony. The Neue Freie Presse prints a message from Briand, French Foreign Minister, saying that the nations rise above their differences and find differences in brotherly union through Beethoven's music, for his melody, which could free the human spirit from agonies, give expression to the highest aspirations and bring the noblest consolation. He recalls that France honored the master during his lifetime, being among the first countries to play his symphonies and never ceasing to do so. He thinks the city of Vienna, saying honors paid to the memory of Beethoven are honors to the spirit of Austria, which took him to itself, understood him and inspired his mightiest works. Such words as

FLOOD OF BOOKS LET LOOSE

A sudden flood of books and essays about Beethoven has been let loose everywhere in Vienna. There is every more new German books, discussing Beethoven from all points of view, on exhibition in Viennese shops. Some six or seven new English books have appeared in London.

Portraits of Beethoven are displayed everywhere in Vienna. There is every variety of portrait, from possible likeness. Numerous facsimiles of autograph works have been made. The Town Hall has an absorbingly interesting exhibition of autographs and original portraits and other relics of the master and all sorts of things recalling the Viennese life of Beethoven. Gramophone companies have been very busy. From the books of some London newspapers and periodicals Beethoven is a heavy advertiser.

Besides the official programme in Vienna there are numerous private ones. Some others, might well have been omitted. Thus, Volkoper announces a ballet to "dances 'Interpret' various works of Beethoven, in accordance with the insane and degenerate idea that something hitherto unsuspected is revealed in music by gymnastic antics and gyrations for which its author never intended it.

MOVIE THEATRES DEPICT LIFE
But even movie theatres attempt to visualize the composer, his life and various legends about him—they get away from legends, however much students may explode them in treating this or any other great composer. To such as are here, as well as many others elsewhere, it will be a source of interest and pride that the great explorer of Beethoven legends, the great explorer of the truth about his life and career, the great authority on his biography, to whom Germans, Austrians and others do homage, was Alexander Wheelock Thayer.

GERMANY OBSERVES CENTENARY
Berlin.—The hundredth anniversary of the death of Beethoven was commemorated throughout Germany. Lectures and concerts devoted to the works of the immortal composer were arranged everywhere, even in the smallest towns of the country.

The principal features of the ceremonies in the capital were a brilliant performance of the opera "Fidelio," Beethoven's only opera, and a concert by the Philharmonic Society. Both events were attended by the foremost representatives of art and literature and great throngs of music enthusiasts. The High School for Music arranged an exhibition of manuscripts and prints of the works of the master.

The festivities at Munich culminated with a monster concert. In connection with the centennial the Berlin City Government placed a tablet on the residence of Anna Pauline Milder-Hauptmann, who created and sang the part of Leonore in "Fidelio" the first time in 1816. The singer, who is buried in the Catholic cemetery here, was born in Constantinople, brought to Vienna by Schikaneder, made the acquaintance of Beethoven and created a sensation. Napoleon hearing of her, exclaimed enthusiastically "Volla eine volk" and Goethe later said "Music comes in streams from this woman's throat."

The inscription tablet dedicated to the memory of the singer reads: "Here sleeps Anna Milder-Hauptmann, Beethoven's first Leonore. This stone was dedicated to her memory by the City of Berlin on the hundredth anniversary of the death of the immortal master."

BEETHOVEN MASS IN PARIS
Paris.—Paris continued to-day to observe the Beethoven centenary. Special services were held in the Madeleine Church, Cardinal Drouin officiating. The Conservatory orchestra, under baton of the Conservatory orchestra, played the Mass in D, with Philippe Gaubert conducting.

For months Beethoven's compositions have been featured in French programmes. His fame has been extolled in the newspapers, in radio programmes and from the pulpits.

Writer of Subtitles Can Make or Break Most Films

Little importance is attached to motion picture subtitles by the fans. To them these captions are just a "necessary evil" that goes hand-in-hand with the production of pictures. Yet these titles are vital. Many films, otherwise good, have been completely ruined by a bad set of titles. Other pictures, however, have been saved by good title writers.

Writing titles is an art all in itself. It is a long, tedious job. The title writer must first familiarize himself with the story. Most of the time he looks at the picture about three times before even starting work on the titles. Then it must be viewed another seven or eleven times during the captioning process.

Subtitles are injected solely for the purpose of clarifying and identifying details of action which are not clear by themselves. Often an audience is unaware that the picture has been momentarily supplanted by a title, since it merely explains something to their minds.

The title writer not only writes his captions, but also decides at what points they are to be put into the film. As a rule the titles have to be altered in some manner two or three times before they are pronounced satisfactory.

After that is done the producer usually decides to change the picture in some respect and titles having his perfect set of subtitles are no longer perfect.

I am told that the script for "Red Grange" new picture, "The Motor Maniac," calls for him to drive in a road race at an actual speed of 100 miles an hour. Studio officials declare that the former grid hero will do the driving himself. But I would venture there will be a change when the times comes for filming the race.

"Cash and Carry" Pyle isn't going to see his best "meal ticket" risk a broken neck when "doubles" can be secured for $25 a day.

Bull Montana, long known as the toughest-looking actor in film ranks, has a rival. George Kotsenaroff, one of the leading heavyweight wrestlers of the West, is vying with Montana for honors before the camera. Kotsenaroff, battle-hardened physiognomy already has brought him considerable comment for his work in three productions.

Though the origin of sleeves is unknown and their history obscure, they are known to have been worn by the ancient Greeks and Romans.

JEAN PATOU ENTERTAINS THE FASHIONABLES AT TEAAt Which the Modern Viewpoint of Accessories is Freely Discussed

By LUCILE LAMARRE

OTHER than a presentation at the Court of St. James, there's no event of fashion that looms quite so brilliantly on the horizon as a tea at Patou's. Everybody who is anybody attends—from royalty back to royalty. His bizarre setting enthralled a few openly and everyone secretly. It vies for attention with the suave modernity of the gentleman himself.

A bit out of place in these bizarre surroundings at tea are bejeweled dowagers with their charming and youthful entourage, who dote on the cutesy costumes and the young things with their elderly admirers in tow.

But it's here that style is made. Here that style is throned. Here that style is talked. Here that style is lived and breathed.

The mannequins loiter leisurely among the guests clothed in Patou's latest creations—which introduce a new silhouette or a new color or a new fabric treatment. Today's slim silhouette makes exacting demands on the poor mannequins—they live very much like jockeys to keep down their weight.

"Slim, slim, you must be slim," demands Paris. If you have this virtue your worries are over—but if you haven't, the whole world seems to be your slave to design fashions that will make you appear so.

"And color. Study your type, madame, and wear the most alluring color." The whole world of fashion listens!

Not any one color dominates the mode—but all colors do. I was secretly amused when I thought of the color chart of Kayser hosiery for Spring that I had just seen, for it had all the colors that Patou was sponsoring. How Kayser was so far in advance of the dictates of the opening heels was a mystery to me. This business of being ahead of things always thrills me—and Kayser always is.

Even in quality they're ahead—the first, the standard, the very best obtainable. All Kayser hosiery is made of pure thread silk with pure dyes which assures even their sheers quality hose of having amazing durability. To add to this wearing quality, Kayser hose has the exclusive "Marvel-Stripe" feature that prevents garter runs that cause such havoc. And the pointed "Slipper-Heel"—another Kayser feature—gives to the ankle a slenderizing effect and graceful line.

All Kayser stockings are fine gauge (42 gauge).

My attention at this point in my thoughts was attracted to a very lovely mannequin who strolled by me in a tailored costume of utter simplicity but of marvelous chic—but the most interesting thing about it was the fact that her gloves—hosiery and bag matched.

"Yes, yes, they must match," decrees exacting Paris.

Well, Kayser gloves match Kayser hosiery—but not in color only—in quality, too.

You've no idea how good a Canadian feels when abroad—going from opening to opening—to find that a home firm is as much abreast of new things as Kayser is.

Even in the Kayser "Italian" silk underwear it has been fashioned to give the much sought slim silhouette. Cut to cling to the contours of the body with wisecracking "Marvel-Stripe" feature that gives better fit and longer wear. Of course, all Kayser underwear is made of "Italian" silk that is all pure silk and pure dyes.

May I suggest to you that you wear Kayser hosiery, gloves, and underwear to be sure you are well costumed in the important accessories to the mode?

Play Eighty Minutes Without Single Goal

Ottawa and Boston Engage in First Scoreless Draw in History of Stanley Cup Series; Each Side Place Puck in Net Once But Play Called Offside; No Extra Game Will Be Allowed, President Calder, of N.H.L., Says; No More Than Five Games to Be Played; Pool to Be Equally Divided; Divided Between Teams if Deadlock Remains

Boston, April 8.—Ottawa Senators and Boston Bruins, Stanley Cup finalists, battled eighty minutes at the Arena here last night to a scoreless draw in the first game of the trophy series.

Over 9,000 fans jammed into the Arena to witness the first world's series hockey games ever played in the eastern part of the United States. They were treated to an exhibition of high-class hockey, but left the rink disappointed with the indecisive result, especially after the Bruins had controlled three-fourths of the offensive play. The Boston team showed an edge on the attack practically throughout the three regular sessions, while the overtime twenty minutes was about even.

The much-vaunted front attack of Ottawa found difficulty in getting going against the close-checking Bruins, who in turn, showed an attack which all but managed to beat Connell from close in.

FIRST SCORELESS DRAW

While the Boston front rank was doing its share towards working for victory, Winkler, in the net, was being given practically airtight protection. He had thirty-eight saves to thirty-five made by Connell, but the Senators attack consisted mostly of shots of the long variety whereas the Bruins played the puck right in on the net. It was the first time in the history of the famous hockey trophy that a scoreless tie had been played in the series.

The game was clean throughout. Only six penalties, all minors, were handed out during the game. Ottawa drawing four and the Bruins three, but the Bruins drew the penalty.

The scoreless tie will not mean an extra game in case of a deadlock or if one team is unable to win three encounters, said Frank Calder, president of the National Hockey League. "If neither club shall have won three games at the completion of the five games, then the club which has the best record of games won shall be declared the winner," he said.

"If, on the other hand, it shall have been impossible to reach a decision, then the money in the players' pool shall be divided equally between the two clubs."

The second game of the series will be played here Saturday, and the next succeeding two in Ottawa.

FIRST PERIOD

During the opening moments the rival goalies had nothing to do but nervously, as both defensive systems proved impressive. After attack at both ends broke with regularity against five-men bulwarks. Finally Oliver broke through the Senators' defence, but the Bruins' shot was off-side and no goal was allowed.

Herbert grabbed a loose puck at the Ottawa defence when Boucher failed to clear cleanly and nearly fumbled Connell when he batted the disc goalward.

The first penalty went to Shore Bruin defence man. The Bruins stuck to strictly defence play until Shore returned and none of the Ottawa attacks were allowed to penetrate through to Winkler.

Back at full strength, Boston eased up on their defensive tactics and sent their offensive into action once again. Hittman gave the crowd a thrill with a lone rush up centre. His bullet-like drive from the defence, however, was easily handled by Connell.

SECOND PERIOD

After a few minutes of tight play Shore finally warmed his way in on Connell. The latter, however, but in the way of a snapshot to keep his net clear. As in the initial session the Bruins had an edge in territorial play, but the Ottawa defence was not so weak as to allow any counters to filter through. Fredrickson grabbed his own rebound from the backboards and just missed an open net.

Clancy nearly knocked Winkler over with a fast drive from the blue line, which the Boston custodian took on his pads. Clancy made another daring rush but was forced behind the Bruin net. Despite Clancy's two dashing thrusts, the Boston team continued to hold an edge on the attack. About half way through the period, play showed somewhat with the players showing effects of the fast play during the thirty minutes.

Play pepped up with Clancy again leading the Senators' attack. He missed scoring by a matter of inches when his fast backhand hit the post. Oliver returned the play to the other end and managed to save two shots in quick succession from the attacks of Shore and Fredrickson. The second penalty of the game went to Boucher. Ottawa defence man who attempted to wrap his stick around Shore's head. The period ended with him in the penalty-box.

THIRD PERIOD

Galbraith and Oliver followed in close on a dangerous rush by Fredrickson, but both missed a bounding puck with no one in front of them but Connell. The first five minutes showed the Boston team still holding the edge. The Ottawa attackers could do nothing with the opposing defence. Fredrickson snapped a pass to Oliver right in front of the Ottawa net and only a spectacular save by Connell kept the persistent Bruins from taking the lead.

Herbert grabbed a pass from Galbraith and just missed the net with his fast backhand. Jack Adams tripped Herbert and drew a minor for the offence.

Galbraith gave Connell a hot one to handle when he went the length, side-stepped the defence and drove from about fifteen out. The Bruins were attacking strongly, but the Ottawa defence, despite a few shots, played continued for the most part in Ottawa territory, but the hard-working Bruins could not score, and the bell-rung with the teams still battling for a lone tally.

Billy Boucher nearly brought the game to a finish when he worked close in on Connell from the left wing. The Ottawa goalie just covered the corner in time. G. Boucher took a shot from the blue line and Winkler never saw the puck until it struck his pads. The Senators got away on a three-way attack, but an off-side at the Boston defence ruined the scoring attempts.

The Bruins started a substitute forward line to open the supplemental session and Ottawa had more success in coping with the second stringers than they did with the regulars. The regulars came back for Boston, but Ottawa was still able to hold their own. Winkler was being pestered by a variety of snap long shots. Fredrickson and Alex Smith bumped one another and drew minors.

The teams changed ends at the conclusion of ten minutes of overtime and went at the business of scoring one counter against. Fredrickson and Smith rushed to play against the Bruins' defence. Fredrickson's shot was off-side and no goal was allowed.

George Boucher had a wonderful scoring chance when he grabbed a loose puck after Shore failed to clear quickly. Winkler kept the resulting shot right on his pads, however.

Clancy went off for spilling and the Senators were one short. The Bruins rushed to the attack and swarmed around the Ottawa net. They finally slipped one past Connell but it was off-side. The crowd thought it was a counter and a shower of paper fell from the ceiling.

Clancy returned soon after play resumed. The teams continued their battle for a lone tally as play saw-sawed up and down the ice, first one team bending the opposing defence and then the other. The game ended with the teams deadlocked.

ABE MITCHELL WINS ROEHAMPTON TITLE, BEATING WHITCOMBE

Roehampton, Eng., April 8.—Abe Mitchell won the Roehampton Cup, the first big golf tournament of the English season here to-day. In the final round this afternoon he defeated Ernest Whitcombe, 5 and 1.

Mitchell is captain of the team of nine professional British golfers who will go to the United States next month to defend the Ryder Cup.

Roehampton, Eng., April 8.—Abe Mitchell and Ernest Whitcombe came to-day in the professional golf tournament and will meet for the Roehampton Cup.

Mitchell defeated F. G. Jewell, five and four, and Whitcombe beat M. C. Jolly at the twentieth hole.

Duluth Seek Series With N.H.L. Winners For World's Laurels

Champs of American Hockey League Issue Challenge For Stanley Cup

Present Boston-Ottawa Series Nothing But League Affair; Interesting Issue

Minneapolis, April 8.—The Duluth Hornets, champions of the American Association Hockey League, to-day forwarded a challenge to the National Hockey League winners to a series for the world's professional hockey title.

Duluth's challenge will create a very interesting situation. It paves the way for another series, which would be more in the nature of a world's series than the present one between Ottawa and Boston.

Duluth have a cracking good team that might give the N.H.L. champions all the worry they want. However, the N.H.L. may not risk the chance of seeing its champions go down to defeat before what is termed a second-rate club. There is no reason why the challenge should not be accepted, unless the N.H.L. finds the season is too late, or that its champions will be played out or some other reason by which they may evade the point.

JUST A LEAGUE AFFAIR

The world's series between Boston and Ottawa is really nothing more than a league championship but the title "world's series" lends a little more class and publicity to the event. The winner of the series will be the N.H.L. champions and claim the Stanley Cup and the world's championship.

When the Stanley Cup was originally presented to the amateurs in the early nineties the holders had to defend it against all-comers. In 1914 the Stanley Cup was used as the trophy for the world's series between the Western and Eastern champions. With the passing of the Western League this year there appeared no chance of a world's series, so the N.H.L. was divided into two sections and the way paved for a so-called world's series between the sectional winners.

MEANS MORE MONEY

Now comes the challenge from Duluth and it is worthy of consideration. The club is a good one and has every right to challenge for the cup. The American Association has no working agreement with the N.H.L. and several squabbles have arisen between the two leagues. If Duluth's challenge is refused it is difficult to see how the N.H.L. champions can claim the world's championship.

The players who won the N.H.L. championship do not get all for the series with Duluth as it will mean much extra money for them. The officials of the league, however, will have the say.

COAST BASEBALL

Oakland, April 8.—The Portland Beavers took the edge in their series with Oakland by scoring a 5 to 3 win yesterday. George Boucher was wild at the start and allowed Portland three runs in the first inning and two more in the third before the Oaks had started.

CRICKETERS' MEETING

The annual general meeting of the Wednesday Cricket League will not be held until Friday, April 29. Any teams wishing to enter are advised to file their entries with D. Fletcher, the secretary.

WHAT THEY ARE PLAYING FOR

THE STANLEY CUP

This trophy, which was held in Victoria in 1925 as a result of the Victoria Cougars' victory over the Canadians in the world's series, is once again sought after. This time the Ottawa Senators and Boston Bruins are battling for the honors. They met last night and played to a scoreless draw in Boston.

Duluth now becomes a factor in the battle for the Stanley Cup. Having won the American League Duluth have challenged the winners of the Boston-Ottawa series.

Tennis In B.C. Is In For Its Greatest Year

Annual Meeting of British Columbia Tennis Association Sanctions P.N.W. and B.C. Championships at Victoria During Week Starting August 1; Rev. William Carroll Elected Vice-President of British Columbia Body

Official sanction for the holding of the P.N.W. sectional lawn tennis championships and the B.C. championship at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club was granted at a meeting of the B.C. Lawn Tennis Club held in Vancouver last night. Rev. William Carroll, president of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club, attended the meeting and brought back word that everything had been satisfactorily completed for the two big championship events which will be staged concurrently during the week commencing August 1.

This is the first time in seven years that the P.N.W. championships have been awarded to Victoria and the date has been so arranged that the leading players of Canada and the Pacific Coast will be here. The week before the championships start here the Canadian tournament will be in progress in Vancouver.

With the Canadian championship in Vancouver and the P.N.W. and B.C. tournaments in Victoria this province is in for its greatest year in tennis.

The officers elected were as follows: President, F. D. Nicholson, Vancouver; Vice-president, Rev. W. Carroll, Victoria; councillors, P. J. Maw, E. J. H. Cardinal, P. W. Baldwin and S. A. Horner, Vancouver; Rev. E. Ryall, Nanaimo; Dr. E. W. Boak, Victoria; R. G. Hill, Kelowna, and E. S. Stapleton, Ocean Falls; secretary-treasurer, E. V. Young, North Vancouver; auditor, J. D. Forsyth.

THE LINE-UPS AND INDIVIDUAL SCORES were as follows:

EQUIMALT—BRIDGES, Joe Watt, DeCosta, Hosmer, Spears, Hay, Stewart, J. Watt, Warren, McElroy, Wagland and Green.

JAMES BAY—BROS., Killick and Margison; Fraser, Gelling and Lorrimer; J. Smith, Terry, Allan, A. Smith and Davey.

EQUIMALT JUNIORS—De Costa, Warner, Anderson, Collings, A. Stewart, W. Stewart, Hicks, Wright, Wallace, Brown and Evans. Reserve, Watt and Marsh.

High School Ball Tossers Slip Fine Win Over College

Harry Webster Holds Seniors Scoreless For Six Innings; Two Homers Hit

The Victoria High School, by their win over the Victoria College in an exhibition baseball match yesterday, showed that they have the makings of a fine team. Harry Webster, who pitched for the winning team, gave a good account of himself, not walking a man. The boys only played seven innings, but the score was 9-3 in favor of the High when the game was called on account of darkness.

It was not ideal baseball weather, there being a biting wind which made catching in the outfield particularly uncertain, but play was snappy and the few errors were only to be expected in an initial game. "Big" Storch, who twirled for the College, baffled the High boys completely for the first five innings. But in the sixth they found him for six runs.

The College were leading 3-1 at the end of the first innings. No further score was made on either side till the fifth, when the High boys made two runs. The High chalked up six runs in the sixth inning. Kennedy slammed a homer and Bob Murgford finished the scoring when he came home after making a two-base hit.

Spence, for the College, made a homer. Howard Reid umpired the game.

RIFLE SHOOTING

Shooting under the auspices of the Victoria and District Military Rifle Association will not open till Saturday, April 16, as the committee appointed to arrange matters has decided that the ranges are still too wet.

Arrangements have been made for markers from the P.P.C.L.L. and it is hoped that transportation will also be available for those who do not have cars.

Secretaries of the various rifle associations are asked to advise the secretary of the V. and D.M.R.A. how many of their members are interested in shooting on Wednesday afternoons.

Victoria Bowlers To Meet To-night

A special general meeting of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club will be held in the clubhouse at Beacon Hill Park this evening at 8 o'clock. The meeting has been called for the purpose of discussing plans for the enlargement and improvement of the clubhouse, particularly with a view to providing a cloak room, kitchen and accommodation for the ladies members. All members are requested to attend.

Senior Football Clubs Play League Matches To-morrow

Double-header Will Be Staged at Royal Athletic; Esquimalt Meet James Island

Wests Will Take on Saanich Thistles; Full Card of Junior and Juvenile Games

First Division soccer teams will resume play to-morrow in the second half of the league schedule. Two matches are scheduled and both will be played at the Royal Athletic Park, on account of the poor condition of the grounds at Beacon Hill.

The games will be as follows: 2:15 p.m.—James Island vs. Esquimalt.

4 p.m.—Victoria Wests vs. Saanich Thistles.

During the past two months the senior clubs have been engaged in competitions for the Milton Cup and the Jackson Cup, both of which were won by the Esquimalt eleven.

The first half of the first division schedule was won by Esquimalt and the dockers are expected to annex the second half as well.

EXPECT GOOD GAMES

The opening game to-morrow between James Island and Esquimalt should prove very good. The Islanders have played an improved brand of soccer lately and should be able to give the Dockers a good game. Esquimalt has been considerably weakened through the loss of Mesher, one of their fullbacks. Coulter, who was out of the game last week through being under suspension, will be back in playing to-morrow.

In the second game between the Wests and Thistles both teams will be in full strength. Last week the greenhirts put up a good game against Esquimalt and if they field as strong a team to-morrow the Thistles will have to work hard for a victory. After a long rest the Saanich lads are anxious to get back in the game and hope to hang up a victory at the expense of the Wests.

Junior and Juvenile soccer games scheduled to-morrow are as follows:

JUNIOR

Esquimalt vs. Ex-High United, at Victoria West Park; referee, Swan Five C's vs. Y.M.C.A., at Beacon Hill, upper ground; referee, Rogers. Games will commence at 3 o'clock.

JUVENILE

Saanich Rovers A vs. James Bay Central Park, lower ground; referee, Glancy.

Burnside Thistles vs. Saanich Rovers B, at Central Park, upper ground; referee, Moulton.

Saanich Thistles vs. Esquimalt, at Beacon Hill, lower ground; referee, Dowds.

Royal Oak Midgets vs. Three C's at Heywood Avenue.

Games will commence at 2:45 o'clock.

Teams for to-morrow will be as follows:

EQUIMALT—BRIDGES, Joe Watt, DeCosta, Hosmer, Spears, Hay, Stewart, J. Watt, Warren, McElroy, Wagland and Green.

JAMES BAY—BROS., Killick and Margison; Fraser, Gelling and Lorrimer; J. Smith, Terry, Allan, A. Smith and Davey.

EQUIMALT JUNIORS—De Costa, Warner, Anderson, Collings, A. Stewart, W. Stewart, Hicks, Wright, Wallace, Brown and Evans. Reserve, Watt and Marsh.

Victoria College To Meet Wesleysans For B.C. Basketball Title

Local Intermediate 'A' Champions in Shape For Important Game To-morrow

Everything is set for the intermediate "A" men's semi-final for the provincial basketball championship to-morrow night at the Memorial Hall between the Victoria College and the Wesleysans of Vancouver.

The Victoria College have one of the finest intermediate squads that have been developed in Victoria for some time and will give a good account of themselves against the Mainland champions. The locals have yet to take defeat in this season. In organized basketball having gone through the City League fixtures in fine style, winning all their games by good margins. Last month they met and defeated the Greys of the First United Church, for the city title, and then journeyed to Nanaimo where they defeated the Timberlands for the Island championship. Every man on the College team is a first-class ball handler. They have shown their superiority over several senior men's teams during the season.

GOOD PLAYERS

In Terro and Knott on the forward line, they have two exceptionally good shots who dribble and combine effectively and shoot from all angles.

Uplands Ladies

Following is the draw for the third round of play in the Darcus Cup competition of the ladies of the Uplands Golf Club:

Mrs. Unsworth and Mrs. Macfarlane.

Mrs. Challoner and Mrs. K. Fraser, Mrs. Boyd and Mrs. M. Fraser, Mrs. Withering and Mrs. Cecil Eve, Mrs. Pocock and Mrs. Semple, Miss Hiseocks and Mrs. Ellis, Miss Cass and Mrs. Nickson, Miss Angus and Mrs. Gaiser, Miss Welfenden and Miss Grant, Mrs. Hepburn and Mrs. McDonald.

Colwood Golfers To Visit Oak Bay Links For Wilson Cup Match

"A" Teams Engage in Singles and Four-ball Matches; "B" Teams Also Play

Annual Match Opens This Week-end, With Second Half Being Played in Fall

With One Race Left Weismuller Must Win To Defeat W. Spence

Chicago, April 8.—The National A.A.U. swimming championship in indoor tanks to-day lay between Walter Spence of the Brooklyn Central Y.M.C.A., and Johnny Weismuller of the Illinois Athletic Club, with Spence leading 15½ points to 14 1-3. The 500-yard free style race to-night, ending the four-day meet, will determine the honor.

A third entry in this race is George Kojac, seventeen-year-old Brooklyn High School boy, who defeated Weismuller in the 150-yard backstroke championship Wednesday and set a new world's record. George has but eight points so far so he could catch either of the leaders if he did win the distance event.

After the defeat in the backstroke race, in which Weismuller wore himself out in the early speed, he settled down to a steady pace in the 220-yard free style last night and beat Kojac by nearly half the length of the 60-foot pool.

Important Games In "Y" Basketball Will Be Played To-morrow

First United and James Bay Meet in Senior Tussle; Two "B" Games Scheduled

The semi-finals in the B.C. Electric trophy will commence to-morrow night at 7:30 o'clock, when the Jordan River "B" team will meet the Victoria Machinery Five. This game is part of the "B" team knockout basketball competition. The River team is composed of veterans who have been playing the game for years and their experience will certainly help them against the younger team.

On the other hand the Y.M.C. quintette is composed of young and energetic huskies who are raring to go after their spectacular win over Pulpit Harbor on Wednesday night.

The West Road team will meet the "Y" Leaders at 8:30 o'clock and will no doubt bring a big crowd of boosters from the country. West Road count on winning the "B" section. "Y" Leaders came through with a brilliant win over Sooke last Wednesday and the Sooke boys predict the Leaders will win the tourney.

The James Bay quintette has strengthened up by adding Harold Killick to their line-up for Saturday when they tangle with the First United, city champions, in the senior game. James Bay last played a wonderful game last Saturday when they outscored the Duncan Five and if they can repeat on Saturday, they will have the honor of meeting the Jordan River team in the final next Wednesday.

In order to protect the fans, the front row in the gallery will be reserved for Saturday and the following Wednesday in the final whole house will be reserved. Tickets are now on sale at the Y.M.C.A.

The games to-morrow will commence at 7:30 o'clock, at the "Y" gymnasium, and the teams will line up as follows:

Victoria Machinery Dept.—Mack, Crombie, Marchant, Blair, Basso, Mitchell and Ledingham.

Jordan River "B"—Rough, Holmwood, Elliott, MacVicar, Walker and Lee.

West Road—Rice, M. Lannon, G. Lannon, W. Tubman, J. Lannon, R. Mitchell and T. Peden.

"Y" Leaders—Dunlop, Hill, Peden, Rose, Acres, Hamill and Owen.

First United—White, Forbes, Rose, Hocking, Webster, Foubister and Turgoose.

Bay—Partington, Wright, Butler, Davey, Jackson, McConnell and Killick.

Wool Washing an Art, Manufacturers Decide

Bradford, England, April 8.—Washermen put too much "punch" or something to their work and on this account are to be taught how to wash woolles scientifically.

The Bradford Textile Society is behind the innovation. The manufacturers contend that their goods are not at fault, and that when material shrinks it is usually because the washermen do not know their business.

Prof. William Davies of the Nottingham Technical College has been engaged by the society to take the lead in a campaign designed to teach washermen how to wash properly, by class as well as by correspondence courses. He also will show that it is not necessary, as has been thought for generations, to break or crack one's back over a scrubbing board. The old theories as to washing, avers the professor, are all wrong.

"The time is ripe for establishment of technical education for washermen," announced Professor Davis. "Hosiery and manufacturers of woolens often send out instructions with their products, but the housewife and the washerwoman pay no attention to them. Stockings should be subjected to gentle squeezing action. This does not correspond with the 'punch' which is responsible for a great deal of the shrinkage of many garments."

COVENTRY PLEADS FOR PARTY UNITY

Sessional Work Attacked; Twigg Says He Got Wrong Kind of Inquiry

Pleading for unity in the Conservative Party in his riding, T. G. Coventry, M.P. for Saanich, said last night "to live and thrive like bees in a hive and never sting each other."

With this advice Mr. Coventry coupled a detailed attack on the Oliver Government and its works, particularly those of the last session of the Legislature during which, he said, Liberals played politics with important public issues. The Saanich member criticized the new Government's milk legislation which, he said, would impose a burden on the smaller dairymen of the Province.

H. D. Twigg, M.P. for Victoria, vigorously assailed the Government for its work during the session. Don't think that the Liberal Government gave me the sort of inquiry I asked for," he said, "dealing with the Gauthier-Carlson charges. I asked for a royal commission. I did not get that. Premier Oliver moved for an inquiry under the Public Inquiries Act."

He added that "under a 'joker' clause in this act the motives, character and whole private life of a person demanding an inquiry could be investigated."

WORST GOVERNMENT

"I think it is my duty to get rid of the worst government the Province of British Columbia has ever had," he said, explaining his motives in attacking the administration.

ELECT OFFICERS

Officers of the association were elected as follows: Honorary president, T. G. Coventry; president, R. S. Twining; first vice-president, G. Dobbs; second vice-president, Mr. E. W. Dugas; secretary, Capt. Lake; executive, Mr. and Mrs. W. Tucker, Col. J. Scroggie, W. J. Smith and F. E. Aikens.

Col. A. W. Woods, president of the Saanich Conservative Association, was chairman, and a delightful programme of entertainment was rendered by the following artists: Mrs. S. E. Borden; song, Miss Marjorie Spencer; recitation, E. Ebelby; song, E. S. Blair; monologue, Miss Leona Hunter was accompanied. Dainty refreshments were served by the ladies of the association, and, after supper, dancing was enjoyed.

GERMANS TRANSMUTE HYDROGEN GAS INTO HEAVIER ELEMENT

Helium Produced by Two Scientists; Stores of Energy Are Released

There has been much talk about the possibilities of transmuting the atom, since Professor Meitner announced that he had changed quicksilver into gold. Meitner's theory is still hotly disputed, and various other alleged transmutations have not been able to maintain themselves in the face of further investigation. Now, however, comes word that two scientists working in the Chemical Institute of the Berlin University, Dr. Paneth and Dr. Peters, have succeeded in changing the lightest of all elements, hydrogen, into the next lightest, the gaseous helium.

Professor W. Kirchberger, an authority expresses the opinion that the discovery is likely to be maintained.

The spectroscopic is the magician which enables the scientist to test the fact of the transmutation of the atom. That is, the light radiating from the substance under observation can be decomposed by means of a prism and the lines examined. It is well known that each element and metal has its own spectroscopic pattern of lines and colors, absolutely invariable and differing from that of any other metal.

These two scientists have perfected methods of research to such a degree that they are able to discern the existence of one-hundredth of a gram of helium in the substance under examination.

The transmutation of hydrogen into helium took place by means of what is known as a "catalytic" process. Professor Kirchberger again makes the matter clear by means of a homely example.

THE PROCESS EMPLOYED

In the old days of gas lamps, the so-called "soft-lighter" were very popular. They were made of a kind of platinum sponge, and when the gas was turned on and streamed through the platinum, its hydrogen content mixed so actively with the oxygen contained in the atmosphere that sufficient heat was induced to ignite the gas. The platinum coil itself did not burn and it is therefore hard to say what the platinum had to do with this combination of oxygen and hydrogen. But what ever the reason may be, the platinum coil sufficed to increase to an extraordinary degree the inclination of hydrogen to enter into chemical combinations with oxygen, thus demonstrating beyond doubt. This consideration induced Paneth and Peters to select palladium, a metal similar to platinum, for their investigations. When they subjected hydrogen for the space of several days to the influence of finely distributed palladium—to a palladium sponge—they found that helium resulted—in very small quantities, to be sure, but undeniably present.

Sometimes they succeeded in developing from one ten-thousandth to one hundred thousand cubic millimeter of helium in a day. Absolute proof of the results was rendered difficult by the fact that helium is also present in minute quantities in common air, and this atmospheric helium must naturally be prevented from affecting the results achieved. Further, in order to prove undeniably the presence of helium all other gases must be excluded and the helium collected in a capillary test tube.

SPRING FLOWER SHOW HELD AT METCHOSIN

Wonderful Variety of Exhibits
Despite Lateness of Season

Metchosin, April 8.—A most successful bulb and Spring flower show was held under the auspices of the Metchosin W.I. at the hall on Wednesday. The show was opened by Mrs. Matthews in a very happy little speech congratulating the members in having such a fine display in spite of the lateness of the season, and suggested having a flower show during the summer months, for which she would be happy to lend her garden.

There was a splendid show of daffodils of all classes, but the later varieties of narcissi and tulips were not represented. John Hutchinson, F.R.H.S., made a most pains-taking and efficient judge and gave entire satisfaction with his awards. In the children's section there were many very good exhibits. A display of health literature given by the Department of Public Health and the Metropolitan Insurance Company was arranged. The ice cream was as usual kindly donated by H. R. Hammond, and was dispersed by Miss E. L. Milne. The home-cooking stall, presided over by Mrs. Saltmarsh and assisted by Mrs. Witty, was decorated by kindness of David Spencer's Limited with dainty colored serviettes and lace doilies, and did a thriving business. The candy stall, with Mrs. F. A. Pearce and Mrs. Bradford in charge, was most attractive and also a financial success.

A feature of the show was a large table of primroses and other Spring flowers grown by Mrs. Matthews, but not for competition, and a large display from the William Head Quarantine Station, also not for competition, with large baskets of Japanese, wisteria, forsythia and many lovely Spring blooms. A most delightful tea was served by Mrs. Georgeon, assisted by Mrs. Higgins, Mrs. C. P. Brown, Mrs. Deveson, Mrs. Elwood, Mrs. Meredith Jones and Mrs. Mile. In the committee room, transformed into a bower of Spring-like beauty with large branches of the white plum blossoms and quantities of yellow daffodils, Mrs. Matthews kindly presented the prizes to the successful exhibitors, and votes of thanks to her for her kindness in opening the show and presenting the prizes, and to Mr. Hutchinson for so kindly coming out and judging the exhibits were passed and most heartily endorsed. The president, Mrs. T. Barclay, calling also for a vote of thanks to all those who braved the weather and contributed in any way to the success of the show.

Mr. Hutchinson gave three special prizes of rock garden plants to the exhibitors of rock gardens. The special prize given by Miss E. L. Milne being won by Mrs. F. F. Frudd for a miniature Japanese rock garden, complete to the most minute detail. The prize list is as follows:

SUCH IS CHINA NOW—Typical of the chaos and pillage which is China to-day is this extraordinary photo of an actual riot in Tien-tsin, reported visited by the latest disorders. All is lawlessness and looting here as un molested coolies hurry along the spoils of their plundering on heavily laden carts. Crowds of Chinese aimlessly through the sidewalks, gazing with Oriental indifference, if not envy, upon the rioters' booty.

Best foliage plant, prize by Mrs. Jordan—Awarded to Mrs. Witty.
Best flowering plant, prize by Mrs. Georgeon—Awarded to Mrs. Taylor.
Best bulbs in pot, prize by Department of Agriculture—Awarded to Master Lynn Gaddes.

Skin is Good Index to Condition of Health

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

There was a time when the skin was considered merely a covering for the human body. It is now recognized that the skin is an organ in much the same manner as any other organ of the body, that the blood circulates in it, that nerve endings are present among its cells, and that in many ways the skin is a mirror of the human body, or as Williams has called it, an "index of health."

It must be remembered, however, that medicine has advanced greatly since the time when disease was diagnosed by a look at the skin and a look at the tongue.

Nowadays skin appearances may be deceiving; many a person, especially many a woman, may have what is merely the appearance of health, a sort of camouflage which disappears when the face is washed in the evening.

A good skin is one that is fairly firm, that does not sag, that is free from pimples, that does not scale, and which secretes sufficient oil or perspiration to keep it flexible. In the care of the skin, bathing should be sufficiently frequent to keep the skin clean.

The presence of pimples, blackheads or other blemishes is usually an indication that the skin is not kept clean and the body itself is not in the best possible state. Treatment must, therefore, be applied both to the skin and to the interior of the body.

If the skin is unusually dry, it may be made more flexible by the use of greasy or oily preparations, such as cold creams and ointments. If it is unusually oily it will require more frequent washings with proper soaps, and a competent physician will determine whether or not the metabolism of the body is just what it should be.

The modern physician makes no objection to a suitable use of powder and simple cold creams, or even of pure rouges or other cosmetics. He objects definitely to the use of poisonous products containing dangerous chemicals that are not declared on the label.

He objects to disfigurement with rouges that constitute essentially the same type of advertisement of moral laxity that was used by certain classes of society in ancient Greece and Rome. He disapproves the devotion of what should be a useful life to the art of make-up.

He feels about the skin as about much of the rest of the body, that given ordinary care it will present a satisfactory appearance and that, given too much attention, it may be the basis for psychosis.

It's the same with soap! It must dissolve from the bar before it can do its work.

The hard, common kinds of soap take their own time about dissolving.

But Sunlight dissolves freely, so it isn't necessary to leave it in the water. In fact it's wasteful to do so.

Just swish the bar around a little and right away you have plenty of bubbly, lasting suds—even with hard water!

Sunlight, being all pure soap, not only dissolves quickly, but works faster and does not hurt either hands or finest fabrics.

LAILA

A Tale of the Days of Christ, by John Newpott
(Copyright, 1926, by Eugene MacLean)

"Fled!" repeated the soldier, irritably. "She fled with my money and my jeweled dagger. The Samaritan slave tells me he left her with you."

Omar assented, soberly. "It was even so. Then she took her way down into Jezreel, and only this hour I learned that she has fled again."

"When did she flee? And where?"

"Jacob the publican had arrested her for non-payment of her tax," the stranger replied. "But she evaded him and he is searching for her."

"Jacob?" The soldier's voice was uplifted to a roar. He called the officer, who still remained with his men, outside. "That publican, who ran away and left you in the mire by the little river, is in Jezreel now," he said, when the commander appeared.

"He seized the woman who attended me—the Arab woman, Laila. She ran away from him and he is in pursuit of her."

The officer spun on his heel and, after a few sharp orders, moved at a trot, at the head of his squad, toward the village.

Omar looked inquiringly at Antonius. The soldier gave a gasp.

"If you are in pain," said the stranger, "I may be able to relieve you."

"A fresh wound—in my side," Antonius said, his mouth drawn.

Omar dipped into the small pouch that he carried always under his left arm and drew forth a vial carved from a bit of lapis lazuli. Directing the soldier to open his mouth he dropped a light green fluid on Antonius's tongue. Replacing the vial, he stood back and watched. In a few moments Antonius's face grew quiet and he heaved a sigh of relief.

"The pain passes," he said. "You have great skill."

"A remedy, of which I learned the secret long ago," said Omar. He settled himself more comfortably against the wall. "Tell me what has befallen the Samaritan slave," he said.

"We left him with a wound in his breast at the bank of the Jordan," said Antonius. "Indistinctly, I saw one of my comrades slain. I myself was wounded by a spear."

"By whom?"

"By the chief of the Arabians," said Antonius. "It was about to thrust my sword into him, but he discovered me in time."

He laughed a little.

"It is a soldier's life," he said. "I went with them willingly. The slave came up to us in an hour and helped bear my litter after Jared, Maryam's father, fell to the ground. Then, at night, I heard a command—in Latin. Caesar's soldiers had come. And behold! Since I, too, am a soldier of Caesar, suddenly I was in the camp of my enemies instead of my friends. He worked a cushion into position to support his head."

The Arabians encamped at a spot where their horses had been left behind, in charge of one of their number. He went on. "When the soldiers appeared there was shouting. Three of the Arabians were slain before they could reach their steeds."

"I was lying at one edge of the camp, the slave beside me. A man came stealing past us. The Samaritan seized him. It proved to be Jacob the publican, who begged for mercy. Just then came a soldier, to whom I called in Latin. He took charge of this Jacob."

The Arabian chief came to me. I tried to stab him—so quickly do circumstances change in war. He thrust his spear into me and nearly slew the slave. Then the tribesmen rode up the hill toward Gilboa. I lay behind, cursing that I could not aid my comrades."

He stopped to laugh. "This publican was told to lead the company through the dark. He led them to a swamp and stole away. They were hours getting out of the mire. If they catch him he will go before the procurator at Caesarea and then we will be his."

Omar nodded. "An interesting engagement," he said. "But I fear that I cannot count on you again to go into Arabia to train troops in Roman methods."

"If I go without an army," Antonius said, cheerfully, "they will flay me alive. I lose the jewel you promised me and—" he motioned in the direction of Maryam's house—"I fear I lose Maryam as my slave."

"The fortune of war," said Omar. "But all is not yet lost."

"Money, maid, dagger and this Arabian woman gone," commented ing to have. Now run along to school and don't tease me any more!"

Away ran the Wogglegies, but Gabe turned back to say:

"Oh, Um, if you don't make a blackberry pie I'll be so disappointed!"

And Bumble twisted his green tail and said:

"Oh, if I don't have some cherry pie I'll never be happy."

"What am I to do, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Um, with tears, like her eyes. "I want to make a pie for my Wogglegies, but how can I make apple, peach, lemon, lollypop and all these things when they are all gone?"

Um felt so, sad that she jumped up on the table and began rolling over and over on the sheet of pie crust on the molding board, saying:

"Wogglegie pie! I'll show them! I'll make it so tough they can't eat it! Then they won't care what's in it. Wogglegie pie!"

"I have an idea, Um!" said Uncle Wiggily when the little wooden woman had flattened out the crust until it was ready to spread over the tin and be baked in the oven. "None of the Wogglegies asked for carrot pie, did they?"

"No, not one," Um replied.

"Well, if you don't mind, carrot is my favorite pie," went on Mr. Longears, twinkling his pink nose. "I'll get you some carrots from my cellar, since the new ones haven't grown big enough yet. You make a carrot pie, but put in a little lemon flavoring—a little of peach, a few drops of apple sauce and some pieces of lollypop candy. In this way the carrot pie will taste like all the kinds of pie the Wogglegies asked for, and each one will be happy."

"It's a good idea!" exclaimed Um, bobbing up and down to shake the flour off. "I'll do it!"

Uncle Wiggily brought her some carrots and of them she made a Wogglegie pie, which was a most delicious flavor. When the six little wooden children scampered home from school the pie was waiting for them.

"I want apple pie!" cried one.

"I want peach pie!" cried another.

"Here you are!" said Um, cutting the carrot pie into different pieces.

And one Wogglegie said:

"Oh, what lovely cherry pie!"

And another said: "Oh, what wonderful lollypop pie!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily to himself. "Imagination goes a great ways." So it all happened for the best. And if the rag doll's slipper doesn't get jealous of the jump-in-jack's rubber boot because it is Uncle Wiggily's April shower.

L. H. BROWN FUNERAL HELD AT NEW YORK

New York, April 8.—The late Lieutenant-Colonel John Hector Brown, D.S.O., was buried in the St. George's Society lot in the Cypress Hills Cemetery yesterday afternoon with full military honors rendered by the British Great War Veterans' Association.

For a period during the World War Lieut.-Col. Brown was second in command of the Seventy-third Battalion, Fifth Royal Highlanders, Montreal.

Lieut.-Colonel Brown committed suicide by inhaling gas last Saturday in his furnished room and his identity was not learned until the following day. He was sixty years old and had been a night watchman for some months prior to his death.

"What would I be doing with arms or legs? Sure wouldn't they be in my way when I wanted to roll over and make the crust of a pie? Be off with you! Arrah! Sure I'm better off as it is! Wurr! Wurr!"

I think there must have been a bit of Irish fairy in Um.

At any rate there she stood in the middle of the kitchen, all white with flour from the crust. Uncle Wiggily was just going to ask what sort of a pie Um was going to make for the six Wogglegie children, when, all of a sudden, Bumble Wumpie and the others came banging into the room, shouting one after the other:

"I want peach pie!"

"I want apple pie!"

"I want lollypop pie!"

And so on until poor Um just jumped up and down in the middle of the room, saying:

"I want lemon pie! How can I put all those different kinds of fruit in? One pie is all you're go-

A STRAIGHT LINE

Is the Shortest Distance Between Two Given Points

That definition is applicable to the classified advertisement. A classified advertisement is the shortest possible distance between two given points—the person who wants something, and the something wanted.

The reader of this newspaper who wants more desirable living quarters, a better house, a better job, an assistant, a summer resort, or a steam launch, wants to get into immediate touch with whoever has these items to sell. He is, therefore, interested in the classified ads. They represent to him the straight line to what he wants.

You may be the assistant he is looking for. Or you may want to dispose of the very house, automobile, or steam launch that he needs.

THREE VESSELS ON INTERCOASTAL RUN

C.G.M.M. Announces 1927 Sailings to Montreal; Importer Here

Intercoastal sailings, to be operated by the Government Merchant Marine for the 1927 season of St. Lawrence River navigation were announced today from the local offices of the C.G.M.M. Limited. Three vessels, the Canadian Ranger, Canadian Importer and Canadian Spinner will be used in the service between British Columbia ports and Montreal. Inbound the vessels will call at Victoria. Following is the list of sailings: From Montreal—Canadian Ranger, May 19; Canadian Importer, June 15; Canadian Spinner, July 15; Canadian Ranger, August 15; Canadian Importer, September 22; Canadian Spinner, October 22; Canadian Ranger, November 24.

From Vancouver—Canadian Importer, April 25; Canadian Spinner, May 25; Canadian Ranger, June 29; Canadian Importer, August 4; Canadian Spinner, September 3; Canadian Ranger, October 7.

St. Canadian Importer arrived here this morning at 9 o'clock from the Atlantic Coast. The vessel had 300 tons of cargo for discharge here, including a large steel shipment and general cargo. After discharging the cargo for Vancouver this afternoon.

French Coal Output Drops, But Iron Ore Production Increases

According to figures compiled by the Societe d'Etudes et d'Informations Economiques, and transmitted to the Bankers Trust Company of New York by its French Information Service, the activity of the French mining industry declined during January 1927, except as regards the output of iron ore. 799,796 metric tons as against 7,011,892 in December, and salt: 129,658 tons as against 127,348 in December. On the other hand, the output of coal fell from 4,647,619 to 4,629,491 tons, mineral oils from 7,965 to 7,466 tons, pig iron from 327,368 to 304,924 tons, steel from 741,061 to 678,482 tons and potash salts from 116,995 to 111,095 tons. The output of pure potash, however, increased slightly in January over the preceding month the totals being 35,573 and 34,589 tons respectively.

The following table shows the total amounts in metric tons of various mineral substances produced during the years 1926 and 1925:

	1926	1925
Iron ore	39,480,400	35,741,195
Potash salts	1,238,481	1,152,908
Pure potash (K ₂ O)	366,670	310,168
Mineral oils	69,870	68,890
Salt	1,442,000	1,548,725
Coal	48,482,800	48,482,800

Statistics for the production of pig-iron and steel in January 1927, according to figures compiled by the Societe d'Etudes et d'Informations Economiques and transmitted to the Bankers Trust Company by its French Information Service, show a marked decrease when compared with the output for December 1926. The number of furnaces in blast fell from 158 on January 1, 1927 to 147 on February 1, while the number of furnaces ready to begin operations rose from thirty-one to thirty-seven and the number of those in process of building or repair increased from thirty to thirty-four.

The output of pig-iron, which had amounted to 327,368 metric tons in December declined to 304,924 in January, while steel output fell from 741,061 metric tons as against 741,061 tons in December.

Train of British Families Arrives in Western Canada

Winnipeg, April 6.—Seventy-four British families, averaging seven to a family coming to Western Canada for settlement under the 3,000 family scheme, detained from a Canadian Pacific special here this morning, and left on their journey farther west at 1 o'clock. Two families of thirteen each established a record for this train, as well as being the largest to come via Canadian Pacific Railway this season. W. G. Boone and his family will settle in the vicinity of Calgary, while G. Finlay will travel to Vernon, B.C., to take up fruit raising.

The special, the first of two to arrive with passengers from St. Montreal brought all British people, the first all-British train to arrive in Winnipeg this year over the Canadian Pacific. Of these immigrants 319 adults and fifty-six children will settle on the three prairie provinces, and thirty-five adults and nine children going to British Columbia. A second special from the Montreal arrived to-day with 380 newcomers, 351 of whom are for the prairies and twenty-nine for British Columbia, including a party of twenty-four British women in charge of Conductress Brown.

The Imperial to-night will bring 155 settlers, including a Salvation Army party, one boy going to Alberta and twenty-two to British Columbia.

FERRY STEAMER

PUGET TO START RUN TO-MORROW

Is First Ferry Vessel Operating to Mainland From Island This Year

The ferry steamer Puget, operated by the Puget Sound Navigation Company, will be the first vessel operated on motor ferry schedules from Vancouver Island to the Mainland this year. The Puget will commence to-morrow morning, leaving Sidney at 8:30 o'clock. En route to Anacortes, she will call at Roche Harbor, Orcas and Lopez Island. On the return trip she will take the same route, leaving Anacortes at 1 p.m., arriving at Sidney at 5 p.m.

Instead of May 28, as previously announced, the Sidney-Anacortes-Bellingham double service will commence on May 21, when the ferries City of Bellingham and City of Anacortes start operation. The City of Bellingham will make two round trips a day from Sidney to Bellingham, calling at Orcas. She will lay overnight at Sidney.

ADDITIONAL SERVICE

The City of Angeles will complete the two round trips a day service between Anacortes and Sidney. She will make the round trip from Anacortes to Sidney, while the Puget remains on the round trip from Sidney to Anacortes.

In addition, the City of Angeles will make one round trip every day between Anacortes and San Juan Island points, tying up in Friday Harbor overnight.

The auto ferry Olympic will start on the Port Angeles-Victoria run on June 11, making two round trips a day.

COURT IS ASKED TO RULE OUT BIG SALE

Disposal of Assets of Bankrupt Whalen Paper Co. is Attacked in Action

Vancouver, April 8.—Action to set aside the sale of the assets of the bankrupt Whalen Paper and Paper Company Limited, to first mortgage bondholders for $400,000 is being taken, James Whalen and George F. Whalen of Port Arthur, Ontario, and Verna Dargfield of New Westminster, having secured a Supreme Court writ against the Montreal Trust Company, the Royal Securities Corporation Limited and the British Columbia Pulp and Paper Company Limited, all of Vancouver, and I. W. Killam of Montreal.

DAMAGES AS ALTERNATIVE

The plaintiffs, on behalf of themselves and other debenture holders, bondholders and shareholders of the company, ask an alternative to the setting aside of the sale that they be awarded damages, on the grounds that the sale, held at public auction on October 30, 1925, was effected when actions of the defendants prevented postponement which would have resulted in a more advantageous disposal of the properties.

SECOND MORTGAGE

When the holdings of the company were sold, in accordance with the bondholders' claim, there was second mortgage debentures totaling $400,000, shares outstanding of $800,000, and creditors, mostly in Vancouver, with claims aggregating $800,000. Damages from Montreal Trust Company are claimed for alleged breach of trust. It is alleged that defendant, while acting as trustee for debenture holders, also acted in an inconsistent interest, whereby the assets of Whalen Paper and Paper Company were sacrificed.

ACCOUNTING ASKED

An accounting is sought from the Royal Securities Corporation and I. W. Killam for all profits they might have made out of the sale and transfer of assets to the British Columbia Pulp and Paper Company Limited. It is alleged these defendants were in a fiduciary position and should not have profited out of the transaction. A declaration is also sought that common shares of the British Columbia Pulp and Paper Company Limited, which were issued to the Royal Securities Corporation Limited, are the property of the plaintiffs.

TO-MORROW'S HOROSCOPE

"The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel"

(Copyright)

SATURDAY, APRIL 9, 1927

Except early in the morning the planetary government for to-day is favorable, according to astrology.

Great promise is given to merchants and manufacturers who are to have intensive work in the next few months, if the stars are to be believed.

A period is at hand when those who have positions in the Sun will be of subordinate interest to those who are engaged in big work of the world.

Agriculturalists, as to profit, despite all discouraging conditions, the stars prophesy, for the world is to buy food of the United States.

Prices of both food and clothing will advance before next winter and fashions will contribute to the expense of attire.

This is a good sign for dealers in leather and makers of shoes are to profit greatly, it is foretold.

Banks and money-lenders are to meet many demands in this year of 1927, when financial problems of new and puzzling aspect will develop.

This is read as a rule lucky for women in business as well as romance.

Weddings to-day have a happy augury, so far as prosperity is concerned, but youth and age united under this way will suffer from many disappointments.

Prices of goods and services will rise, for the people will seek surcease from work and anxiety.

Expansion of American trade in the Mediterranean, which is foretold, is likely to cause ill-feeling and international complications, astrologers warn.

There is a good sign to-day for art and artists. Musicians should benefit greatly in the coming summer when open air concerts will be more popular than ever before, it is foretold.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have a year of many small changes and interests.

Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly clever, but too much inclined to be visionary.

CITY LIGHTING PLANT EXTENSION PROPOSED

Ald. H. O. Litchfield Suggests Definite Plan For Taking Care of Future Requirements

Extensions to the city's lighting system to meet the needs of the future were dealt with by Alderman H. O. Litchfield, speaking on the city's programme of radio talks, over station CPCT last night.

"Victoria is the best lighted and healthiest city for its size on the Pacific Slope," said Alderman Litchfield. "Speaking of western cities, have you noticed how, after leaving main business avenues of traffic, no one could claim the residential districts are well lighted? This cannot be said of Victoria, for even to the remote outlying portions of the city the streets are well lighted. In this age of modern car traffic such a provision is of enormous benefit to the public."

BORNE BY PROPERTY OWNERS
"During 1926, $15,401 was paid for the power consumed, and a total of $44,157 including the power and all maintenance charges for the twelve-month period. The cluster lamps were installed in 1910 and 1912 as a work of local improvement. The entire cost of installation was borne by property owners of the district, who also bear a share of the annual cost of maintenance. The maintenance cost has proved to be considerably less than expected, owing to the use of the nitrogen lamps, in place of the tungsten formerly used. The cluster lamp system cost $7,693 in all last year, or $17.50 per standard.

"The power distribution system also consists of an extensive installation of underground cables drawn to conduits, with ample accommodation for expansion. Under the Jordan River Development By-law of 1910, the city is assured of an ample supply of power at one half the previous cost of production. The final rate determined on then was 1 cent per kilowatt hour. This agreement continues in force during the life of the company's franchise, but the franchise will expire within the next few years. There is, however, no need for anxiety as to that, for the recently acquired properties of the Esquimalt Waterworks include hydro-electric development at Goldstream. This ensures to the city an ample supply of electrical energy sufficient for the needs of a Greater Victoria, under direct city control."

"The future of our lighting system must of necessity be governed by development. Our standard equipment of to-day may prove obsolete a few years hence. I would say that the present system on Yates Street should be extended east to the junction with Port Street, and similarly east on Port Street to the same junction. We should endeavor to give extra lighting on main thoroughfares such as the Gorge, Esquimalt, Quadra and Cook Streets. I would also suggest installing lighting through Beacon Hill Park, from Vancouver Street and Park Boulevard to the corner of Douglas and Simcoe Streets. There appears great need for the installation of lighting on a direct thoroughfare connecting James Bay to the Fairfield District.
"In conclusion, if we are to do our duty in our generation we must be both realists and visionaries. As realists we must know that the day for making Victoria an industrial city has been delayed too long; as visionaries we must keep our eyes on the future and plan for the requirements of to-morrow. But really have we any choice in the matter? Victoria is growing while we sleep; growing whether we wish it or not, and administrators must keep pace with that growth. The important point is to see the right thing to do, and to do it in time," concluded Mr. Litchfield.

Modern Fire Alarms Installed in Palace

London, April 8. — The bucket brigade and all other paraphernalia of the old fashioned fire fighting outfit at Buckingham Palace is to be replaced by up-to-date apparatus. The ancient bell has disappeared and modern gongs operated by electricity have been installed to summon aid in event of emergency. Notwithstanding the antiquated fire prevention machinery long in use at the palace, there has not been a serious blaze there for many years. This is attributed to construction and the fact that the buildings are guarded day and night.
The worst fire in the history of the royal houses was in 1698, when Whitehall Palace was destroyed.

Congratulations and Wishes for Every Success Tendered by Senior Members of Victoria's Pioneer Industrial Group; Gyro Orchestra and Entertainers Render Lively Programme

Something of the power and sincerity of purpose behind the formation of the Junior Chamber of Commerce came indelibly to the front last night as its 100 members sat down with members of the Senior Chamber at an inspiring rally. Members of the Senior Chamber, who for over twenty years have carried on the work in this city, wished a right hearty success to the younger group, and predicted a future of high promise for its work.

Brief addresses which rang true and excellent entertainment featured the inaugural banquet, attended by a united membership that filled every seat in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium.

MAYOR GIVES WELCOME

In extending his felicitations to the Junior Chamber, Mayor J. C. Pender said he was glad to see so many young men taking an active interest in the progress of the city. For many years the Chamber of Commerce work had been borne by the older members of the community, and great benefit might be expected from the aid that younger men could bring in support of leadership and judgment of older heads, he said.

If he might be allowed to point out two or three ways in which he believed the Junior Chamber could make its presence of practical worth, continued His Worship, they would include the organization of a decoration committee to enlist the aid of a united community on festival occasions.

There was room, too, he said, for a committee that would take in hand in a permanent way May 24 and July 1, and other holidays to secure cohesion of effort in presenting attractions that would be of credit to the city. In this they could count on the assistance of the City Council in financing, but their aid would be invaluable in organization of the various events.

TRANSPORTATION

Transportation, by means of ferries and other ways, had already played a big part in the development of Victoria, continued the Mayor, and there was still more to be done in that direction. He would suggest action in the creation of a ferry from Sidney to Spring Island, which would serve the growing trade and traffic to that area.

In industrial affairs the Junior Chamber could play a big part in bringing capital and ideas together, so that action resulted, said Mayor Pender. The chamber should support the Home Products Exhibition not only as a week's affair, but as a permanent year around campaign in the interests of the buy-at-home movement.

There was capital and to spare in Victoria, but what was really required was the active organization necessary to put the money into production. In this regard the chamber would find the industrial committee of the city always ready to help, and ready to take work while suggestions advanced to it. Achievement followed hard work, and he believed the Junior Chamber was starting on a career that would demonstrate that its members had a capacity to work hard, and to work together for the benefit of the city.

In closing His Worship wished the new organization every success on its mission.
"The following remarks by reading a telegram from Premier Coates, New Zealand, to the effect that New Zealand intended to have an active representation at the Pacific Foreign Fair, which was being held in the Chamber of Commerce, pointed to the great opportunities lying ahead of the Junior Chamber at the time when Victoria was beginning to feel the effect of the great expansion in Pacific trade."

Young men joining the work of the Chamber of Commerce were dedicating themselves to the community, he said. In this it must be realized that they had their own lives to live and their own business to keep up at the same time. It was time that the chief factor in community effort, time and the ability to work at the right things. Time was the essence of every contract with life, and depending on whether it was wasted time or time well spent would be the results.

PACIFIC, THE CENTRE

It was essential for the new body to get a proper perspective of Victoria in its relations with other cities, to see what was necessary to its progress. Non-essential elements had to be thrown away, if practical results were to follow, continued Mr. Schwengers. The Pacific was the centre of increasing potential development, bounded on the one side by a continent with over 100,000,000 people, the richest in the world, and on the other by half the population of the world, now in the process of a new birth and seeking an outlet for national trade and endeavors.

Victoria not only occupied a strategic position in the communities that bordered on the Straits of Juan de Fuca, but had an unique advantage in its rail and water rates for trade with all centres of the world. The value of this advantage was just beginning to strike home, and would be more realized as time went on.

of the Chamber of Commerce, but active use must be made of its possession. Victoria as a port had no tortuous channels retarding shipping from her docks, no pilotage fees nor harbor dues comparative to other centres on this seaboard, but everything to gain by pushing itself in competition with its neighbors. Victoria should be the Island's outlet for the great natural resources of the land, including timber, coal, fisheries, copper and gold, pulp products, agricultural and other great assets lying in a state that made future development not only inevitable but impending on a larger scale than ever sensed before, he said.

There could only be one port on Vancouver Island that would measure up to the task of handling the great traffic that would result from the logical development of the Island and that was Victoria, continued Mr. Schwengers. That was a future that was worth the taking off of coats to work for and worth taking disappointments unflinchingly in order to press forward to the goal of achievement, concluded Mr. Schwengers.

POINTS TO OPPORTUNITIES

The first assembly of the Junior section was not only one of the most encouraging meetings of the Chamber of Commerce, but one of the most inspiring justifications of the aims which brought it into being, said B. C. Nicholas, in congratulating the Junior Chamber.

Victoria had many advantages, some of which had been pointed out by previous speakers, he said, but what was needed in addition was the will to develop these advantages to the point where benefits would result to the community. If there had been any lack in the work of the Chamber of Commerce in the past it was the absence of the support of the youth of the community. There was a dynamic force in youth which was essential to the progress of any city.

The Chamber of Commerce might well be proud of its achievements in work extending over a long term of years, but would now have an added assurance in working for the development of Victoria, and the greater realization of the benefits accruing to any centre that was active in its own interest, in meeting the competition steadily faced from other communities.

Victoria, continued Mr. Nicholas, needed all the buoyant self-assurance of her youth to push ahead. To succeed the city had to place itself on the highway of the world; to become a place of work where the spirit of the people would reflect itself in work done. Seattle and other Pacific Coast centres had from an absence of all advantages built themselves up into commanding positions by dominant energy, and united self-sacrifice in the interests of their communities. With her great advantages Victoria should be able not only to do no less, but to do more.

Outlets had to be found for the men and women growing to maturity here. Only by realizing the importance of actively working to a definite end could Victoria advance, continued Mr. Nicholas.

In the forthcoming convention of the Foreign Trade representatives the Junior Chamber would have an opportunity of meeting men, leaders in world trade, who represented billions in capital seeking opportunities. It would be one of the duties of the Chamber to interest these men in the Island; to point out its resources waiting only capital to turn into developments of the first magnitude. There was scope in this for the Junior Chamber, to say nothing of the good that would result in harnessing the youth of the city to work for the benefit of the whole, concluded Mr. Nicholas, wishing success to the new group.

JUNIOR MEMBERS SPEAK

Archie Muir, president, and William T. Straith, vice-president, upheld the Junior Chamber as spokesmen last night. Mr. Muir made an agreeable chairman, introducing the speakers and congratulating those present on the spirited turnout for the inaugural membership meeting.

W. T. Straith was cheered for the only address made by a junior member on the programme. He pointed out the work lying ahead of the new group and their ability to make a success of the work they had undertaken.

Other speakers, said Mr. Straith, had spoken of the essentials of industrial progress. In addition to those elements there was, he thought, the necessity for a community consciousness. To develop a live and virile spirit of community thought, which would fight for the community and take neither insult nor jibe, would be one of the duties of the new group, he said.

If Victoria made it a habit to talk well of their own community, to stand up for it against all comers, not only would good result, but other communities would think better of the city. The Junior Chamber, continued Mr. Straith, was determined to fight the passive non-resistance to moroseness and pessimism that had robbed the community of its natural growth by discouraging settlement and frightening away visitors.

Mr. Straith recalled the clown in the story, "He Who Gets Slapped," who smiled and smiled again as others struck him. That was a poor type of psychology to breed into a city as its community spirit, to lie down under any insult, said Mr. Straith. There were, he considered, three cures; that each should speak well of his community, and be on their toes to instill in others their confidence in its destiny; to pay more attention to the tourist, and to give him a truer and more cheerful picture of the city; to steadily refuse to allow others to throw slurs on the community, and to fight for it at all times, and by the exercise of self-confidence to build up a public spirit of confidence in the city and its immediate future. Victoria, concluded Mr. Straith, needed to make no apology for doing this, as it was on the highway of progress, the western outpost of opportunity.

ENTERTAINMENT MAKES HIT

From the Gyro orchestra, lead by Charlie Hunt, to a dashing chorus that would have drawn more than one look from Flo Zeigfeld, and supplied by local talent, the entertainment features on the Junior Chamber's first rally proved a lively feature of the meeting.

Bert Waude sang "The Trumpeter" to a merited encore, James Howard, assisted by Madeline Burke, Jessie Rudock, Doreen Davis, Mimi Rudock and Edna Parkes in costume, sang "A Bachelor Gay Am I," for an insistent recall. In "Horses," Doreen Davis and Mimi Rudock made a big hit in their jockey dance. The Bennett sisters, from the Coliseum, were applauded heartily for two excellent vocal numbers. Don Cameron and Heo Goodacre, in a skit called "The Maiden's Lament," staged a burlesque that brought down the house. Maureen Grute, a pupil of Miss V. Fowkes, was cheered for a charming exhibition of dancing in a fairy dance and other numbers.

The entertainment was arranged by Billy Kennedy, Don Cameron and George Pauline, Junior Chamber members, who got a big hand for their work. Mr. Howard and the Bennett Sisters are appearing on the Coliseum bill this week, and their entertainment was kindly lent by the management for the occasion.

The Gyro orchestra made a great hit and if the programme had contained a song sheet their efforts would have been joined in by the united membership who, however, made up for it by thunderous applause.

Careful Drivers To Get Medals

London, April 8. — Silver medals, and perhaps gold, are to be awarded to motorists throughout Great Britain for careful driving.

The competition is open to all drivers of any class of road vehicle employed by members or subscribers to the National Safety First Association. A silver medal is awarded to every driver who completes five consecutive years free from blame-worthy accidents. At the end of each year free from accident each driver gets a diploma. It is planned to award a gold medal to those drivers who go ten consecutive years free of blameworthy accident.

Many Monograms

Spring is saying it with monograms—many of them distinctive and elegant. They grace scarves, bags, sweaters, suit pockets, hostelry and even hats.

FOR Sour Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Hereafter instead of soda take a little "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.
